Cards Beat Yankees 5-2 On 10th Inning Home Run

NEW YORK (AP) —Tim McCarver's three-run homer in the 10th inning and Bob Gibson's 13-strikeout pitching moved the underdog St. Louis Cardinals within one victory of the world championship today on a 5-2 triumph over the New York Yakees in the fifth game.

Gibson set a Card club strikeout record, beating Mort Cooper's old mark of 12 in 1944 against the St. Louis Browns, and fell only two short of the record of 15 Yankees set in the 1963 opener by Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers.

With two out and a man on in the ninth inning, Gibson appeared assured of a shutout. But Tom Tresh hammered his first pitch into the right field bleachers, about 430 feet distant, for a home run that tied the score.

The rangy right-hander from Omaha, hit hard in the second game, bounced back with a spectacular effort that left the proud Yankees hanging on the ropes.

One more victory in the Series to be resumed Wednesday at friendly Busch Stadium would give the Cardinals the winner's share of about $8,800 for their first World Series since 1946. Tuesday is an off day for travel.

The Yanks had gone scoreless for 17 1-3 innings, 8 2-3 Sunday and another 8 2/3 today, before Tresh's homer broke the string of goose eggs. An error by Dick Groat on Mickey Mantle's grounder had preceded Tom's long distance blow.

But the fighting Cardinals struck right back against Pete Mikkelsen with a rally that was climaxed by McCarver's homer into the lower stands in right field. It was the third hit of the day for the 23-year-old Cardinal catcher, who leads all the series hitters with a .471 average.

Bill White fouled off half a dozen before he drew a walk to open the St. Louis 10th. Ken Boyer pushed a bunt to the right of the mound and Mikkelsen neglected to go after it. The ball rolled dead before anybody else could get to it and it went for a scratch single.

With Groat at bat, Elston Howard threw to second, trapping White off base. But the alert St. Louis first baseman dashed for third and slid in safely with a stolen base when Phil Linz's hurried throw was too late. Pedro Gonzalez, playing third, was unable to hold the ball as White collided with him.

Groat grounded to Gonzalez who threw slowly to second for a force of Boyer with no attempt at the double play because White represented the winning run on third base.

Mikkelsen worked carefully on McCarver, taking the count to 3-2 on the left-handed batter, before he came in with the pitch that meant the ball game. Mickey Mantle in right field moved back to the barrier and then watched helplessly as the ball sailed into the crowd.

The big crowd of 65,633 cheered for Gibson as he marched along, getting better the longer he pitched.

The flame-throwing pitcher worked just the opposite from his pace in his previous start, pacing himself for a strong drive down the stretch. He fanned only three in the first three innings but picked up with six in the next three and finished with a flourish.

Kenny Boyer, the home run hero of the Cards' Sunday victory, leaned into the box seats behind the Cardinal dugout to snare Maris' pop foul for the last out while the Cards thumped Gibson and McCarver on the back in a victorious parade to the clubhouse.

Gibson was not just a pitcher this fine warm, October afternoon. He dropped a single into short left and scored the first of two Cardinal runs in the fifth inning. Until Tresh struck his blow, the second run seemed superfluous.

In the ninth inning, just before Tresh connected, Gibson dashed off the mound and made a truly sensational play to nip Joe Pepitone at first base.

Pepitone's liner bounced off the pitcher's leg and rolled almost to the base line with Gibson in hot pursuit. The long throw to first just barely got Pepitone, who joined with Manager Yogi Berra and coach Jim Gleeson in a bitter protest to umpire Al Smith.

Russ Orbit Three-Man Crew, Show It On TV

Gemini Beaten Months

MOSCOW (UPI) — Russia today launched the first passenger-carrying space ship.

A pilot and two passengers — a scientist and a doctor—were aboard the crafe launched at 10:30 a.m. (12:30 a. m. PDT). Moscow television said the space ship "Voskhod" (Sunrise) had gone into orbit and was operating smoothly.

The launching of the first space craft to carry more than one person came 3½ years after the Russians sent up Yuri Gagarin as the first man in space. The American two-man "Gemini" space shot is not expected until February at the earliest. The first three-man U.S. spaceship probably will not be launched for at least two years.

OUTSIDE VENTURE

Soon after the start of Voskhod's flight, which was expected to last at least 24 hours, the Soviets hinted at an even more spectacular space feat. The official Soviet news agency Tass quoted a visiting French space scientist as saying that one or two of the three Russians now in orbit may venture outside the space craft during the flight.

Tass said it had interviewed Jean Coulombe, chairman of France's national center for space research, in Leningrad and quoted him as saying: "The fact that there are three spacemen in one ship will enable one or two of them to venture outside the ship."

Scientists have said it is theoretically possible for spacemen to leave their craft while in orbit, drift through space beside it, and then return to the craft.

SHIP'S PATH

Voskhod was orbiting the earth every 90.1 minutes on a path taking it as far as 255.6 miles from the earth and as near as 112.5 miles.

The pilot and flight commander is Col. Vladimir M. Komarov, 37, whose hobby is strum-

Fierce Viet Battles Taking Heavy Toll, 2 U.S. Men Die

SAIGON, Vietnam (UPI)—Vietnamese government forces routed three battalions of Viet Cong communists yesterday in one of the biggest and bloodiest battles ever fought in the Saigon area, it was reported today.

Military spokesmen reported at least 248 government troops and guerrillas were killed or wounded in savage fighting about 30 miles northwest of this capital city. The casualties included two U.S. Army advisers killed in a mine explosion. Three deaths were reported yesterday.

About 50 more Vietnamese troops and Viet Cong guerrillas were reported killed or wounded in scattered clashes throughout South Vietnam during the past 24 hours.

A U.S. Marine Corps officer was injured slightly today when his helicopter crashed about 330 miles northeast of Saigon. The crash was blamed on mechanical failure and the officer returned to duty after first aid treatment at his home base of Da Nang.

American and Vietnamese military spokesmen reported 11 large clashes in their briefings today.

The biggest took place about 30 miles northwest of Saigon where government casualties totalled 98 and the Vietnamese defense ministry claimed at least 150 Viet Cong were killed.

The battle erupted early yesterday when a Viet Cong force, estimated at three battalions, or about 1,500 troops, attacked two government positions.

The Communists broke through defense perimeters five times during the savage predawn battle but were driven back with the help of artillery and aircraft.

When the Viet Cong retreated at dawn, American advisers reported they carried off 12 ox-cart loads of dead and wounded, leaving 55 dead on the battlefield and 11 prisoners in the hands of the battered defenders.

Two fresh Vietnamese battalions were called up to pursue the Communists and another battalion was moved up in reserve. When this convoy passed over a road about two miles from the scene of battle, a hidden terrorist set off a land mine under a jeep carrying a battalion commander and his two American advisers, killing all three.

High Court Turns Down Appeals Against Reapportionment Ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider its controversial state legislative reapportionment ruling but agreed to hear new side-issue voter dispute cases from Virginia and Georgia.

The court—without comment—turned a deaf ear to requests from Alabama, Florida and Illinois that further hearings be held on the landmark decision of last June 15 declaring that both houses of state legislatures must be based as nearly as possible on an equal population basis.

The edict set forth by the court last term is known as the "one man, one vote" doctrine. An effort to postpone court-ordered reapportionment for a year failed in Congress this session after a prolonged debate.

The high court's refusal to give further consideration to its overall apportionment decision was expected. The court very rarely rehears a case decided by a written opinion, particularly one of the import of the legislative ruling.

The Supreme Court also dismissed a challenge by Mayor Samuel W. Yorty of Los Angeles to the method of districting the California State Senate.

Frank G. Bonelli, Los Angeles County supervisor, joined the appeal.

The high court acted in a brief order, with no opinion. The California Supreme Court has twice refused to hear the case.

Yorty and Bonelli told the high court that population discrepancies among California Senate districts run as high as 422 to 1. They said 10.7 per cent of the electorate can elect a majority of the Senate.

They said in their appeal that "the sharpness of the injustice" found in California exceeds that in any other state.

At Yreka, Calif., the Northern California County Supervisors Assn. said it would rather see California split into two states than have both houses of the legislature apportioned on a population basis.

The association, at a weekend meeting, gave unanimous endorsement to a motion calling for an all-out effort to fight the Supreme Court's decision on reapportionment.

The association's motion said that if the decision cannot be changed efforts should be made to split northern from southern California and to form two separate states.

American Motors Halts Profit Deal

DETROIT (UPI) — American Motors Corp. today scrapped its historic profit-sharing contract and offered the United Auto Workers union an economic package along the lines the union won from General Motors, Chrysler and Ford.

The UAW promptly rejected the AMC proposal.

Commuters Late—Crash On Viaduct

Southbound commute traffic was backed up beyond the Terra Linda interchange this morning when a truck overturned across the center line near the south end of the San Rafael viaduct on Highway 101.

Timothy A. Ibanez, 19, driver of the truck, and his two brothers, Joseph, 22, and Patrick, 18, all of 52 Summit Drive, Corte Madera, were treated at San Rafael General Hospital after the 7 a.m. accident.

Joseph Ibanez had a cut right knee, Timothy a cut on the back of the head, and Patrick a sore ankle.

The accident happened only a few feet from where six persons were killed on the overpass June 27, according to the California Highway patrol.

The light truck was headed north when it hit the rail, then bounced across the two northbound lanes and tipped over, patrolmen said.

Bomb Damage

Someone ignited a military type smoke bomb in the men's room at the Standard Station, Fourth Street and Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael, Saturday night, sending orange smoke swirling through the station and staining the walls of the restroom.

GOP Sets Nationwide Vote Watchdog Drive

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A nationwide watchdog campaign designed to prevent next Nov. 3 "any repetition of the voting fraud scandals and irregularities" of 1960 was announced today by the Republican National Committee.

GOP National Chairman Dean Burch said millions of Americans still believe that Richard M. Nixon was deprived of the presidency in 1960 by "widespread vote frauds in key states."

"The evidence of such fraud was indisputable," Burch said in a statement. "We are going to see that such chicanery doesn't happen again."

He outlined plans for what he called a ballot security program, involving trained observers posted in every state, county and precinct.

Before Nov. 3, he said, they will check voting lists by door-to-door canvassing to eliminate "tombstone" voters.

On election day, they will observe actual balloting and vote tabulations and will "be ready to call in law enforcement officers to settle cases on the scene and to prevent voter intimidation."

The program director will be Harlington Wood Jr., a Springfield, Ill., lawyer and former U.S. attorney for the southern district of Illinois in the Eisenhower administration.

Wood cited allegations of fraud and irregularities, especially in Texas and Chicago, as examples of the sort of thing Republicans will try to prevent in November.

Quarantine Not To Halt Race

FORT ORD (AP) — An Army spokesman said today that the quarantine imposed at Fort Ord to stop a meningitis epidemic will not affect the running of the Pacific Grand Prix on base property this weekend.

There has been speculation that the quarantine might close down the race on the Laguna Seca track because the course is on Fort Ord property.

Laguna Seca is about 10 miles removed from any training area on the base.

The silver dollar, encased in plastic, traditionally is given to visiting celebrities. But a spokesman for the welcoming party said one won't be given the President because his wife got one recently when she visited Denver.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — President Diosdado Macapagal of the Philippines, nearing the end of a 12-day state visit to the United States, had one last meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson last night.

It was described as an "informal farewell visit," and came as the U.S. president stopped briefly in San Francisco in his campaign.

Johnson went to Macapagal's suite at the Fairmont Hotel with Gov. Edmund G. Brown, and chatted for about seven minutes with the Philippine leader.

Johnson told reporters that Macapagal's visit to the United States had strengthened Filipino-American Relations.

Fort Ord To Close In December

FORT ORD (AP) — The Army has taken drastic measures to curb incidences of spinal meningitis at its basic training facility at Fort Ord. The measures include the discontinuation of recruit training at the base for four weeks.

The Defense Department said in Washington yesterday it had acted on a series of recommendations by the Army's surgeon general, Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton. Heaton made the recommendations after he met with Gov. Edmund G. Brown and Sen. Pierre Salinger in Los Angeles.

The department said basic training will be interrupted during December. The assignment of new basic trainees to the facility will be suspended immediately.

Trainees who are at the post now will not be given the usual two weeks' leave after basic training. They will proceed immediately with advanced training and leave will be given later.

Anderson For Governor? Well, Maybe

U.S. Appointment For Brown Would Clinch Top Job

By BILL BOYARSKY

SACRAMENTO (AP) — That slight, crew-cut fellow with the open-neck sport shirt who walked quietly through empty Capitol halls last weekend is just a heartbeat or a federal appointment away from the governorship.

Although he didn't look much different than the tourists poking through the building, it was Lt. Gov. Glenn M. Anderson dropping by his office to catch up on some work.

WANTS CHANGE

Anderson readily admits he'd like to change offices and move downstairs into the spacious suite now occupied by Democratic Gov. Brown.

"I don't think there's ever been anyone who ran for lieutenant governor who didn't want to be governor," he said. "It's the spot where more governors came from than any other, by far."

Democrat Anderson is supporting Brown for a third term — but the Capitol is full of speculation that the governor will step down before his term ends in 1966 to accept a federal appointment from his good friend, President Lyndon B. Johnson.

If that happens, Anderson will be governor and in a strong position to seek re-election.

And that could provoke a hot intra-party fight between him and Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh (D-Los Angeles) who has indicated that he wouldn't mind serving as governor one day.

Meanwhile Unruh has joined Anderson and other party leaders in urging Brown to run again.

NOT MUCH TALK

Brown insists Johnson has never asked him to accept a federal job. He adds that governors should serve out their terms "in the absence of something extraordinary."

Anderson doesn't talk much about the future — except to say that if Brown runs, he'll be a candidate for re-election as lieutenant governor.

Instead, he discusses the current campaign and how he makes at least seven speeches a week in behalf of candidates or state propositions. It's a grueling statewide pace but it gives him as much political exposure as any of the candidates.

After his office visit Saturday, he flew south to Southern California.

"I'm going to a breakfast in my old legislative district, a block rally for the "no" on Prop. 14 campaign and an architects and engineers for Johnson-Humphrey breakfast the next day," he said.

"Every place I go I find a growing groundswell for the Johnson - Humphrey - Salinger ticket," he said.

And in the process, a lot of people are getting to know Glenn M. Anderson.

Britain Political Campaign Turning To Noisy Disorder

LONDON (AP)—Britain's rowdy national election campaign moved into its final phase today with subtle political arguments drowned in a rising tide of noise and disorder.

Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, 61, the Conservative Party leader, and Harold Wilson, 48, the Laborite chieftain, shouted themselves hoarse in an effort to be heard above the din.

Their lot and that of their colleagues was hard. In meeting after meeting, attendants have had to frog-march hecklers from halls and toss them out of doors.

Tempers shortened with the approach of the voting Thursday.

About 28 million British men and women will elect a new 630-seat House of Commons and give either the Conservative or the Labor party a mandate to govern this country for the next five years.

If the Conservatives win, Douglas-Home will remain prime minister. Wilson will replace him at No. 10 Downing Street if the Labor Party wins.

Both men are leading their parties in a national campaign for the first time. Douglas-Home is trying to give the Conservatives their fourth straight triumph. Wilson hopes to end the Laborites' 13 years in power.

The campaign began sedately enough following the end of the old parliament Sept. 25. Wilson argued: "It's time for a change to get Britain moving." Douglas-Home countered: "Protect your prosperity by keeping the Conservatives in power."

Now the two leaders, living on their nerves, deplore the degeneration of this campaign into what some experts regard as Britain's most disorderly political contest of this century.

"It would be a national tragedy if vital issues are muffled by noise," Wilson said.

Douglas-Home said ordinary heckling—the give-and-take between a speaker and some member of the audience—is traditional and has a place in British politics. But rowdy behavior is something else again, he said. "It must stop."

Five teen-agers looked on as the boy put a bullet into one chamber of the six-shooter, spun the cylinder and placed the gun to his head, pulled the trigger and died.

Venezuela Presses Hunt For Colonel

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—A force of 3,000 police and National Guardsmen pressed the search today for the deputy chief of the U.S. Air Force mission to Venezuela who was kidnaped by Communist terrorists.

A caller identifying himself as a leader of the outlawed pro-Castroite Armed Forces of National Liberation FALN said the terrorists would try Lt. Col. Michael Smolen before a secret tribunal on charges of interfering in Venezuelan affairs.

NO CLUES

Worried officials conceded they had no clues in the abduction of the 45-year-old Chandler, Ariz., officer from in front of his Caracas home Friday morning by five armed terrorists.

Identifying himself as Commandante Tulio of the FALN, the caller said the kidnaping was in reprisal for a military crackdown on the FALN guerrillas.

A FALN statement labeled the abduction "Operation Viet Cong". This was a reference to the FALN's previous explanation that it was holding Smolen hostage for a condemned Communist terrorist in South Vietnam.

SHE HOPES

Smolen's wife, Marian, of Rockford, Ill., issued a statement saying she "clings to the hope that no harm will come to my husband." Earlier the Smolen family got a call from another self-described FALN spokesman who said the colonel was safe and unhurt.

Authorities were flooded by calls and tips. Weeding through the calls has hampered search efforts.

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI)—Police using tear gas and armored cars last night quelled a riot near a Transval gold mine that erupted after an African was killed by an automobile.

Episcopal Session Is Seeking Unity

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Episcopal Church, which regards itself a "bridge" between Protestantism and Catholicism, went into policy-making sessions today after hearing a plea to act—and not just talk—in behalf of Christian unity.

The church's persiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, also urged Christians to translate their principles into deeds on contemporary issues of social justice.

But there were dissenting voices concerning both matters.

There also were signs of change as the 3.5-million-member denomination's triennial general convention began work in an era of mounting and unprecedented fraternity among different churches.

For the first time, three Roman Catholic priests are attending the two-week meeting as observers. So are several Eastern Orthodox churchmen. An "Ecumenical Day" has been scheduled later this week in which Episcopal representatives will meet at various seminaries for discussions with Catholic, Lutheran and other church theologians.

Proposals before the convention call for continued reunion discussions with various Protestant bodies, and also invite "formal and informal" talks with Roman Catholic representatives.

The Episcopal Church is a branch of the world-wide Anglican communion of 44 million Christians. The convention is the church's top governing congress.

At the opening service last night, Bishop Lichtenberger said Episcopalians "over and over again for many years" have declared their belief in Church unity, but don't do enough about it.

Many people, he said, shy away from taking "any action that would require any change in our Episcopal ways."

The bishop, preparing to step down from his office this week because he is suffering from Parkinson's disease, reported a wave of letters protesting the church's activity in social problems.

THE DOLLAR WAS NEVER BIGGER IN NOVATO

The days of good old fashioned bargains (when the dollar bought more) will be here again during Novato Silver Dollar Days Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Novato merchants report. While Mrs. Charles H. Bradley and Mrs. Roger Hicks flash the sterling buying power of the big dollar, merchants Hy Silver (far left) and Robert Rankin put the final polish on the big special sales event. Rankin is chairman of the Novato Chamber of Commerce retail merchants committee. Novato Silver Dollar Days' specials will be featured in Wednesday's edition of the Independent-Journal.

McInnis Hits Partisan Political Edge

Mayor John F. McInnis, seeking to oust Supervisor Byron W. Leydecker, criticized the injection of partisan politics in a nonpartisan election, during yesterday's "McInnis Speaking" radio program over KTIM.

McInnis noted that Sen. Pierre Salinger on his visit to Marin recommended support of Leydecker.

"Apparently, partisan people from far beyond Marin are trying to indicate to us in Marin what we should do," he declared.

As for bay fill, McInnis urged cooperation between the State Legislature and local governments. He said the position that the Assn. of Bay Area Governments took seems the logical one.

McInnis again criticized the lack of overall planning in the county and defended San Rafael's general plan, on which the city planning commission has held two public hearings. "This is the most imaginative plan approach that has ever been presented for adoption to a city, so far as I am able to learn, anywhere in the U.S.," he declared.

The San Rafael mayor said he would use his 12 years experience in city government in trying to bring planning coordination between the county supervisors and the 11 cities in the county.

San Rafael Wins Award For Safety

The award was given to the city for having the lowest number of disabling injuries per million man-hours worked.

The city's safety activity is headed by John K. Mazza, chairman of the city employees safety committee.

New Baker Case Probe Is Asked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Republican senators are demanding new public hearings in the Bobby Baker case before the Nov. 3 presidential election.

They want the Senate Rules Committee to question Baker—former Senate Democratic majority secretary—and three other witnesses about charges of a $25,000 kickback to the 1960 Kennedy-Johnson campaign fund.

The three Republicans—Carl T. Curtis of Nebraska, Hugh Schoot of Pennsylvania and John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky—made the demand in a letter to the committee chairman, B. Everett Jordan (D-N.C.).

Two Children Injured By Caustic Soda

A Novato brother and sister, 3 and 2 years old, were badly burned in the mouth and on face, hands and body yesterday when they ate some caustic soda.

Deby, 2, and Scott, 3, children of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Turner of 40 Rica Vista, were reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

The children suffered the burns when one of them climbed onto a washing machine in the kitchen of the Turner home and got a can of drain cleaner, which they proceeded to eat with pretzels.

Their screams as they swallowed the caustic material awakened their mother at 8:45 a.m. yesterday. As she started to take them to the hospital, she discovered her car had a flat tire.

She called the grandmother, Mrs. Hugh Turner of 1470 Pastel Lane, wife of the manager of radio KTIM, and the grandmother rushed the children to the hospital.

County Gets Highway Users Taxes Share

Marin County received $79,039 as its share of highway user taxes apportioned during September, State Controller Alan Cranston reported today.

Total apportionments of the taxes for the month amounted to $43,136,981. Of this total, $9,167,462 went directly to the counties; $4,084,495 went to the state highway fund for cities; $5,927,163 went to the state highway fund for cities and counties; and $23,957,861 went to the state highway fund for expenditure on state highways.

The taxes which produced the apportionment included $39,485,361 from the seven-cent gasoline tax; $1,823,224 from diesel fuel tax; and $1,827,292 by transfer from the motor vehicle transportation tax fund.

Art Festival Has Largest Crowd Ever

"Golden weather" brought the largest turnout ever to Mill Valley Fall Arts Festival over the weekend, according to Police Chief Dan Terzich, who estimated crowds totaling more than 30,000.

"No Time for Sentiment," an oil by artist Carl Broderick of Novato, was selected as the best piece of art in a popular vote.

Big successes at the festival, according to Mrs. Claudia O'Connor, chairman, were the "Poor Man's Pops" band, the Tamalpais High School Players, "The Jesters," and the Mount Tamalpais and Muir Woods Gravity Car. The latter was installed in Old Mill Park and used for seating by numerous visitors. Installation was by the junior chamber of commerce, with a panel photographic display nearby erected by Mrs. Lucretia Little of Mill Valley.

Mrs. O'Connor said there were more paintings exhibited this year than ever before.

Petty Girls' Artist Will Marry At 70

The creator of the Petty Girls who have graced the pages of Esquire magazine since its first issue in 1933 and the former city clerk of Petaluma plan to marry early next month.

George Brown Petty, 70, of Carmel, whose creations of feminine pulchritude never held a cigarette during the 12 years they sold Old Golds, and Mrs. Gladys Victoria Wallin, 64, Petaluma's director of finance and city clerk from 1923 until this year, took out a marriage license at the Marin County Clerk's office last week.

Petty was reticent to reveal their plans.

"Glad has hundreds of friends and we don't want them to feel they must give us gifts. It will be a very small wedding in Santa Clara County, followed by a short voyage," he said.

"We will probably make our home in the Carmel Valley when we return."

The engineering scientist is Konstatin Feoktistov, 38, who, according to Tass, is not a communist.

The doctor is Boris Yegorov, 27, who became a physician only three years ago.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev talked to the space ship by radio and promised the men an overwhelming welcome when they return to earth. This afternoon the Soviet television carried the first transmission from aboard Voskhod.

Relayed to earth from the spaceship was a live telecast showing Dr. Yegorov putting engineer Feokistov through a neck-wriggling physical exam. The engineer blinked. The doctor grinned as millions of Russians watched on their television screens.

The Soviets seized the occasion to take a jibe at the U.S. Gemini project.

"The Americans have made no little effort to launch a two-seater cosmic vehicle," said Academy of Sciences member A. Nikolayev. "It did not plan out. But Soviet scientists, engineers and technicians measured up to this task."

He was playing in a driveway on Rutherford Avenue near Bennit and darted into the street in front of a car driven by David A. Jacobsen, 18, of 14 Camino de Herrera, San Anselmo, police reported.

Police said that Jacobsen was traveling well below the speed limit and had no chance to avoid hitting the boy.

The machine was still there when he opened the office and started his brief stroll on to the docks, he said.

False Alarms Plague Marin Fire Stations

Seven false alarms plagued four Marin fire departments in a seven-hour period this weekend.

The town of Ross had three of the alarms. Two of them, at 11:01 p.m. and 11:45 p.m. Saturday, came from the same box.

The sequence, which police and firemen assume was the work of teenagers in one or more cars, began at 8:11 p.m., when the Ross fire horn blew first. Between then and 11:45, San Anselmo received one alarm, San Rafael had two, and Ross had its three.

Things remained quiet a few hours. Then, at 3 a.m. yesterday, the Fairfax horn began to sound.

Ross firemen said the pranksters cost their town alone $125 by their actions.

Boy, 12, Injured As Bike, Car Hit

A 12-year-old Corte Madera boy was slightly injured Saturday at 12:45 p.m. when his bicycle was struck as he was riding it on Paradise Drive in Corte Madera.

Treated at Marin General hospital for cuts and bruises on his left leg was Robert Edwin Gries, son of Mrs. Helen Gries, 18 Alta Terrace.

Driver of the car was Kathleen Louise Trewin, 17, of 16 La Cuesta Drive, Greenbrae, Corte Madera. She said the car drifted off the road on a curve, northbound near Tamalpais Drive, police reported.

Hub Council To Study Park Plan

San Anselmo city councilmen will discuss a proposed master plan for Memorial Park at tomorrow night's meeting, which starts at 8 o'clock in the city hall.

Other items on the agenda include opening of bids on three new police cars, possible condemnation of a building at 26 Sais Avenue, an appointment to the park and recreation commission, and Mozart Kaufman's request for a 16-foot sidewalk behind his store.

3 Homestead Valley Autos Vandalized

Three car owners told sheriff's deputies that windows and windshields of their autos were shattered by B-B pellets while parked on or near Laverne Avenue, Homestead Valley, Friday night.

Reports came from Mary N. Lornegraf of 119 Laverne Avenue, Frances R. Pershing of 301 Eldridge Avenue, and John W. Clow of 200 Manor Drive.

Two Injured In Head-On At Greenbrae

An empty lumber truck was tentatively blamed for the head-on crash of two cars on highway 101 near Greenbrae about 10 a.m. today, which injured two persons.

Admitted to Marin General Hospital for observation was Grace Butler Maddux, 63, of San Francisco, driver of one of the cars. She suffered bruises on her back.

Also taken to the same hospital was Mrs. Faye Guthrie, 32, of Los Angeles, a passenger in the other car, driven by her husband, Morris W. Guthrie, 31. Mrs. Guthrie's injuries were not immediately known.

The truck, belonging to Sea View Lumber Co., Fort Ross, was driven by Thomas J. Martin, 22, Petaluma.

The California Highway Patrol reported Guthrie was headed north on the freeway about a quarter mile north of the Greenbrae interchange when his car suddenly veered sharply to the left, across the divider strip.

It collided with Mrs. Maddux's car, coming the other way, and then continued across the highway, and then continued across the highway, running part way up the embankment beyond the southbound lanes.

Officers found a tire mark on the trunk of the Guthrie auto and marks on the left front tires of the trailer on Martin's lumber truck indicated these wheels may have struck the car. Martin said he had been driving in the center lane and had slowed.

Highway patrolmen said they would investigate the possibility that when Martin hit the brakes on his truck, the empty trailer bounced to the side and hit the back of Guthrie's car, causing it to swerve.

Parking Area Plan On Hub Agenda

Plans for beautifying the parking area on the former bus terminal site in the Hub will be the chief item on the agenda of today's meeting of the San Anselmo Parks and Recreation Commission at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

Hope Vanishes For An End To Strike Against G.M.

DETROIT (AP)—Hopes for an end this week to the United Auto Workers' strike against General Motors Corp. all but vanished over the weekend as a spurt in at-the-plant agreements died off.

Only six local-level agreements, which supplement the national contract, were reached Saturday night and yesterday, leaving 88 still to go out of 130.

This came in the wake of a Friday-Saturday thrust that lifted local-level agreements to 36.

G.M. and the UAW reached settlement on a national contract last Monday after an 11-day nationwide strike against G.M. in support of its national contract demands, most of which it won.

No back-to-work order is anticipated until the bulk of local-level disputes are settled. These include such items as ventilation, relaxation of smoking rules, more drinking fountains, company-provision of coveralls and the like.

Kentfield Trustees Will Review Bids

The Kentfield school board tonight will review the bids on the addition to the Wolfe Grade School, all of which were above the engineer's estimate of $230,000, and will decide whether to award a contract or call for new bids. The meeting will begin at 7:45 p.m. in the library of Wolfe Grade School.

The board is also scheduled to act on a recommendation from Supt. Howard C. Harmon that the pay for noontime supervisors be increased, because of difficulty in recruiting. A report will be made on county action on the Kentfield master plan.

Novato Planners Will Consider Service Station

The Novato Planning Commission will consider the revised plans for the service station at the Novak Shopping Center when it meets at 8 p.m. today in the community house.

Shell Oil Co., which received architectural approval for the station at the last meeting of the commission, is asking for changes in the approved design.

Louis C. Campredon of 3 Gothic Drive, Novato, is asking the commission to rule whether an upholstering business is a home ocupation. If it is not, Campredon must apply for a use permit to continue his business, said Robert Lagle, planning director.

Public hearing on rezoning of the Richard Connell property at 1523 South Novato Boulevard from agricultural to multiple family is to be set.

Report Says No Estes Favors

WASHINGTON (AP)—A congressional report says former Texas agriculture tycoon Billy Sol Estes got no special favors from government officials through bribery, political influence or pressure.

However, the report on Estes, now awaiting appeal of fraud charges growing out of the collapse of his financial empire, criticized federal agencies for lack of coordination in various investigations of the case.

James Naughton, counsel for the subcommittee that made the report, said there was no evidence that Estes ever knew President Lyndon B. Johnson although he claimed to have met the then vice president once at a Washington reception.

Economy At Crossroads, Experts Say

By PETER S. NAGAN
Advance News Service

WASHINGTON—The U.S. economy is fast approaching a fork in the road.

One direction leads to further healthy expansion. The other points to an inflationary boom—with a recession quickly following.

The decisions to be made by businessmen, consumers, and labor leaders over the next five or six weeks will determine which course the country finally takes.

Why will the next five or six weeks be so crucial? For one thing, because the economy will be deep into the fall season—the busiest of the year and the one in which the pressures of demand tend to be strongest. A period in which demand is heavy is the easiest time to raise prices, or to try for out-size wage increases such as those won by the auto workers.

ELECTION PAST

Fon another thing, the election will be over by the time this period ends. The fear of rocking the boat—and bringing down presidential wrath — will have faded with the campaign's tensions. Businessmen will feel more free to recover past or prospective increases in costs through higher prices.

Until a few weeks ago, the country's path to growth and prosperity was smooth and gently rising—and had been for 42 months. For longevity and balance—for growth without inflation—there has been nothing like this in peacetime history.

But on Sept. 9 came the new wage contract between Chrysler and the auto workers. The industry had fat profits but did not cut prices. The union marked it as fair game and wrested the settlement estimated to add 4.5 per cent a year to labor costs.

Overnight, psychology changed. Fears that other unions will push for similar benefits have raised the spectre of an inflation that has been absent from the U.S. economy for nearly six years. The question now is: How will people respond?

STEEL NEXT?

The steelworkers union has been flexing its muscles, hinting darkly of big demands to be presented in January. Some steel users are reported to be placing orders for more inventory than they need currently to assure a supply of metal if there is a strike next spring. The steel mills, already straining capacity on some types of products, refer to the need for higher prices. At times in the past, talk of higher prices has led consumers to embark on buying sprees.

So far, most of the reaction to the settlements in autos has been talk. Price increases are popping up more frequently, but—as yet—there is no surge sweeping through the economy. And the wage test in steel—the next bargaining with national significance—is still seven months away.

Economists and administration leaders are now waiting to see how big the scramble for inventory will be. They are scanning the business press for notices of price increases in key materials and components — to see if their worst fears will indeed be realized. And they are checking the business and consumer credit figures.

Market Is Mixed In Dull Session

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed mixed today in a dull Columbus Day session.

Trading was moderate as key stocks showed minor changes.

The market was mixed from the start and moved unevenly throughout the session.

Volume for the day was estimated at 4.5 million shares compared with 5.29 million Friday.

Gains of fractions to a point among key stocks outnumbered losers.

Chicago and North Western rose 2, while Chicago Great Western and Milwaukee Railroad advanced more than a point. York Central was about a point higher.

General motors eased and Ford was up nearly a point in a scrambled automotive section. Steels were narrowly mixed.

Erie-Lackawanna was up to a new high with a fractional gain and looked like the most active stock.

Up a point or better were Cerro, General Refractories, Interstate Department Stores, Kerr-McGee Oil, Magma Copper, American Export Lines and Armour.

Skelly Oil and Mission Corp. rose more than 3 each, Leesona, U.S. Smelting and Polaroid about 2.

Eastern Air Lines added a point in a slightly higher airlines group.

On the American Stock Exchange prices were higher in heavy trading.

Corporate bonds were mixed in light trading. The Columbus Day holiday eliminated most trading in U.S. Treasury bonds.

I. W. Hellman Retires From Bank Board

I. W. Hellman has retired as chairman of the board of directors of Wells Fargo Bank, having reached the retirement age of 65.

Ransom M. Cook, president, has become chairman and continues as chief executive officer. H. Stephen Chase, executive vice president, was named successor to Cook as president, and F. J. I. W. Hellman, who will continue to serve as a director, first joined Wells Fargo Nevada National Bank in 1920. He became president of the merged Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Co. in 1943, and with the merger with American Trust Co. in 1960 was elected chairman of the board.

Central Valley Bank Resources At $181,455,260

Central Valley National Bank has reported resources of $181,455,260 and total deposits of $155,219,359 as of Sept. 30.

Founder-president Charles P. Partridge said these figures reflect respective increases of 8.5 and 7.9 per cent over the same date last year.

Net operating earnings for the nine-month period ending Sept. 30 totaled $618,891, equivalent to $1.42 per share as against $1.46 in 1963 when earnings were $637,449. Partridge said expenses were heavier this year due to installation of the bank's electronic computer system.

Central Valley maintains a branch bank in Novato.

Dairy Company, Hook-Up Wire Firm Merge

Spreckels-Russell Dairy Co. of San Francisco, processor of milk, ice cream and other dairy products since 1908, has merged with Cadel, Inc., former manufacturer of high-temperature hook-up wire for the electronic industry.

Cadel is a wholly owned subsidiary of Dodge Wire Corp. of Covington, Ga.

The company will continue to be known as Spreckels-Russell Dairy Co. and will continue largely under the same management, with the addition of W. B. Thompson, former president of Cadel, who will become chairman of the board and chief executive officer.

Thompson said the merger would mark the beginning of an extensive campaign to develop activities in the San Francisco Bay Area.

Boy Arrested For Knocking Down Signs

Four youths, one a juvenile, were arrested by San Rafael police last night after two officers allegedly saw their car jump a curb and knock down a stop sign and mail box pole at Woodland Avenue and Lindaro Street.

Police said the driver, Howard Lee Gilliam, 18, of 264 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, would be charged with knocking down 15 traffic signs in the city during the evening.

Besides citing Gilliam for hit-run property damage, police booked him and two other youths, Robert Harry Salmoria, 18, of 312 Bayview Street, San Rafael, and Robert Dean Allen, 20, of 1 Hammondale Court, San Rafael, on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

A 17-year-old Long Beach youth was booked at juvenile hall on a charge of possession of alcohol. Police said three unopened cans of beer were in the car.

The four were stopped by officers John E. Loane and Arthur E. Myers, who were cruising near Woodland and Lindaro streets when they heard a car with loud exhaust pipes and the squeal of brakes. Seeking the source of these sounds, they saw Gilliam's car turn onto Woodland, jump the curb and hit a sign.

A witness told police he had seen the same car knock down a mailbox on Picnic Avenue a few minutes earlier.

THE CAMPAIGNERS' DAY

Johnson Has Field Almost Alone Hits Barry's Government Ideas

COMBINED U.P.I. & A.P.

President Lyndon B. Johnson pledged today that if elected his programs will be governed by a 10-point "bill of responsibilities." He said he sometimes thinks Sen. Barry M. Goldwater "is running against the office of President instead of for it."

The President offered the campaign credo and renewed his attack on the Republican presidential nominee as he began the last day of a cross-country campaign swing. He was scheduled to make appearances in six western states before leaving for Washington late tonight.

Johnson was alone on the presidential hustings today. Goldwater took a day's rest from the campaign at his Phoenix home, where he conferred with aides before setting out on a 10-state tour tomorrow.

On the vice presidential front, GOP candidate William E. Miller continued to recuperate from a cold in Washington while the Democratic nominee, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey pressed his campaign into New Jersey and New York.

SECURITY PROBLEMS

Throughout his western tour, President Johnson's security men were having their problems. In Casper, Wyo., two teenage boys were jailed last night after allegedly being overheard threatening the President's life when he visits the city this afternoon.

In Phoenix, Ariz. an 18-year-old was charged with carrying a concealed .22 calibre revolver when agents spotted a bulge in his pants pocket. He claimed he wanted to protect the President against a rumored assassination attempt. He will go to court Oct. 22. Also in Phoenix yesterday, another teenager was released into his parents' custody after being arrested while swinging a Goldwater-Miller sign that almost hit Johnson.

In southern California, motorcade guards openly displayed automatic weapons, after authorities received two telephone threats before Johnson's visit there.

In Reno, Nev., Johnson presented the bill of responsibilities as a companion to the Constitution's Bill of Rights. He said while the Bill of Rights tells the government as a people "to make our rights more worth having."

Article 1 of his bill said the government must act with "restraint." Others said the government must keep both domestic and world peace, discharge U.S. responsibilities of world leadership and encourage expansion of the economy.

During yesterday's campaigning, Johnson invaded Goldwater's home city of Phoenix to be welcomed by a huge crowd which made his motorcade late for church services.

The President received another tumultuous welcome in Long Beach, Calif., and at San Francisco police estimated 100,000 persons gathered to see him at a Columbus Day festival in the Italian section of the city.

GOLDWATER

Goldwater made only one appearance yesterday, at a non-political dinner to raise funds for a museum that preserves Indian relics. The GOP nominee, a devotee of Indian lore since childhood, spoke seriously of Indian problems and achievements. He said the Indians were among the most abused and yet most loyal people in the country.

HUMPHREY

Humphrey, in remarks prepared for a Columbus Day appearance in Newark, N.J., today promised to help wipe out immigration quotas that discriminate against Italians and other eastern or southern Europeans.

The Democratic vice presidential candidate made two major speeches yesterday in Washington at a rally sponsored by scientists and engineers and a memorial dinner for Eleanor Roosevelt.

He told the scientists that Goldwater's views "pose a grave threat to America's continued leadership in science, theology and medicine."

NUCLEAR CLAIM

Other developments:

A GOP task force named by Goldwater to study defense preparedness accused the Johnson administration of endangering national security by failing to conduct underground nuclear tests on weapons systems.

The panel said weapons effects testing programs had slipped "alarmingly" since the nuclear test ban treaty was signed.

LBJ LEADS POLL

GOP National Chairman Dean Burch conceded in a television interview that if the election were held now Goldwater would lose. But Burch said his party's polls indicate Goldwater is gaining strength.

Former Ambassador and Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce told an Illinois Republican group the defeat of Goldwater would "signal the destruction of the two-party system in November." She charged Johnson was a symbol of "Peace through appeasement."

The principals in California's spirited political battle for the Senate were virtually unheard this weekend, as they lurked somewhere in the shadow of their parties' presidential candidates.

SALINGER

Sen. Pierre Salinger, (D-Calif.), and Gov. Brown were behind the scenes in Los Angeles. Early in the morning they met with the Army's Surgeon General, Lt. Gen. Leonard Heaton, who later recommended that recruits no longer be sent to Ft. Ord, where meningitis has infected 84 persons, killing 13 of them. The action is temporary.

MURPHY

Salinger's Republican opponent, George Murphy, gets back into the political act today, when he hosts Richard Nixon, the former Republican vice president.

Nixon arrived in San Francisco late Sunday. He was to make appearance in the state to promote the Republican cause at an early morning breakfast and news conference in San Francisco today before hopping to the Los Angeles area and on to San Diego.

LADY BIRD

After two days on the LBJ Ranch to rest up from her whistlestopping tour through the South, Lady Bird Johnson planned to return by commercial jet to Washington today, and plunge into another busy campaign week.

She said she used the time at the ranch to catch up on some mail and make campaign plans.

Dismissal Of Execs To Be Asked

Dismissal of a grand theft charge against the president of Seabreeze Construction Co. of San Rafael will be recommended in Marin Superior Court tomorrow, Joshua W. Thomas, deputy district attorney, said today.

The recommendation follows the Friday acquittal by Marin Superior Court Judge Richard M. Sims Jr. of two other former Seabreeze officials who were charged with grand theft.

Thomas said his recommendation is based on insufficient evidence against the president, Marvin S. Bailin, who was charged along with Alfred M. Berger, executive vice president and secretary, and John L. Richardson, sales representative, with pocketing deposits for new homes in the Loma Verda tract near Novato.

He said investigation disclosed that Bailin was mistaken when he testified before a Marin County grand jury that he personally signed a $2,500 check transferring money designed for down payments to an account for general corporate purposes in San Diego.

Thomas said further that Bailin, of 1030 Calle Paseo in the tract, has made about $5,000 restitution to the victims. Berger and Richardson, both of San Diego, were found innocent when evidence presented was not clear and convincing that they had misrepresented to the home buyers that deposits would go into escrow, Judge Sims said Friday.

Dog's Identity Is Still Sought

The parents of a 5-year-old Ross boy were still hoping today that the boy can avoid taking a series of painful anti-rabies injection.

To do so they must find a dog answering this description: short, fat and white with brown spots; a predominantly white face; small, floppy ears; short, droopy tail.

The dog bit Lowell Williams, son of Dr. and Mrs. Justin L. Williams, last Thursday during recess at Ross School. If the dog can be found and it is determined that it does not have rabies, then Lowell will not have to undergo the injections.

Redwood Students Interview Barry

By KENT SWIGARD
Redwood High School Student

Knowing only that presidential candidate Barry Goldwater was to leave the St. Francis Hotel for Spokane at about 7 a.m. Saturday, seven Redwood High School students obtained what they believe to be the only interview with the GOP presidential candidate during his San Francisco visit.

The interview lasted approximately 10 minutes, during which all conversation was recorded by student reporter Jeff Hardy, and several pictures were taken by school photographer Richard Smith.

The school newspaper representatives arrived from Marin County about 6:30 a.m. and went directly to the senator's room on the sixth floor.

Upon arriving, the young reporters were sent back to the lobby by the house detective, who told them Goldwater had left 40 minutes before. Undiscouraged, and disbelieving, the group discovered the candidate's limousine still parked and waiting at the hotel entrance.

After a short period of waiting, the elevator doors opened and the candidate emerged, accompanied by his daughter-in-law, Peggy Holt. Quickly advancing, student Pike Oliver greeted the senator with a handshake and asked him he was enjoying his visit to San Francisco.

"Excellent," replied Goldwater. "I always enjoy visiting San Francisco; it's the most beautiful city in the nation."

The GOP leader and his daughter were then accompanied by the high school journalists to the peacock blue Lincoln outside, where he willingly answered questions dealing with Proposition 14, campaign progress, and other political issues.

"Proposition 14 is a California state issue," he said. "I feel it will have no bearing in the presidential election here in November.

Asked about President Lyndon B. Johnson's refusal to debate with him on television Goldwater replied that Johnson was following the lesson Richard Nixon learned in 1960: "Don't give your opponent an audience."

As to how the campaign is going in California, Goldwater said: "I think it's going well. California is dominantly a Democratic state. I think we'll do all right."

As the car pulled away, student reported Paula Malvino said, "I often talk about campaign issues with my friends, but I can't believe I was just talking with one of the candidates himself."

Mischief Tied To Teeners In Mill Valley

Three Mill Valley boys, one 16 and two 15, were arrested at 5:45 p.m. yesterday and placed in Juvenile Hall on charges of malicious mischief and petty theft, and two companions, both 15, were released to their parents.

Jack Dawson reported to police at 8:55 p.m. Friday that the five youths had just walked by his home at 80 Matilda Avenue and ripped the bird emblem from his Ford pickup truck.

The 16-year-old admitted breaking windows Friday night at Land-of-Tools and the Greenwood Tree, both at 24 La Goma Avenue, said police.

The two 15-year-olds admitted stealing wine and soft drinks from a garage on Sycamore Avenue and a radio and some pails of paint from a studio shed at the rear of 267 Miller Avenue, the officers related.

One of the boys said he had entered Tamalpais High School with another boy who stole $15 from the teachers' room. One 15-year-old said he had removed car emblems from cars, some of which he still had in his possession.

Areas For Reed School Are Visited

Thirty persons, including four Reed School District trustees and two Tiburon planning commissioners, yesterday toured seven sites on the Tiburon Peninsula being considered for construction of a new school.

Supt. Edward C. Pino said today that no decision on a site was made during the tour. He said the sites for the proposed kindergarten through sixth grade school would be discussed at the regular Oct. 27 school board meeting at Del Mar School.

Among those on the tour of the sites were school trustees Mrs. Alyce Farkas, Leo Souza, David Ring and Mrs. Marilyn Steinau, and planning commissioners Stephen H. Nash and Erik Rettig. Transportation was furnished by the district on a school bus.

Superintendent Pino said the press was not notified because of an oversight.

District residents who were included on the tour were invited through 250 messages sent home with school children of the north central peninsula residential area.

Trustees at their meeting Sept. 22 discussed four possible sites in the vicinity of Stewart, Geldert, and Hacienda drives; an area on the ridge somewhat north of Reed School and near the edge of Smithridge Estates; a site on the ridge somewhat south of the end of Avenida Miraflores, and the pasture on the bayside of Tiburon Boulevard in which a notably swaybacked horse has grazed for years.

Schollander Captures First U. S. Gold Medal

GLITTERING GOLD—Don Schollander of Lake Oswego, Oregon proudly displays the Olympics gold medal he won today by winning the men's 100-meter freestyle swimming event at Tokyo. Schoolboy Whiz Is Injured

TOKYO (AP) — Gerry Lindgren, America's top hope for its first 10,000-meter gold medal in Olympic history, joined the growing list of U.S. track stars bogged down with injuries when he sprained an ankle in a morning workout today.

"The ankle puffed up good," said team trainer Delmer Brown. "It will trouble him in the finals."

The 18-year-old Lindgren, who will make his big bid in Wednesday's final after capturing the fancy of fans in the United States, was added to an American injury list that already included pole vaulter John Pennel, marathoner Buddy Edelen and discus thrower Al Oerter among others.

Pennel, one of two vaulters ever to scale 17 feet, has been continually bothered by a lingering pain in his back and has been forced to skip practice sessions.

Edelen has been bothered by a sciatic condition in both hamstring muscles while Oerter has been slowed by a rib injury.

Yanks Also Get 4 Other Medals

TOKYO — Blond Don Schollander brought the United States its first gold medal of the Tokyo Olympics today, winning the men's 100-meter free-style convincingly in Games record time of 53.4 seconds.

The United States also added three silver and one bronze medal on this second day of competition, while Russia's blonde young Galina Prozumenschikova acquired her country's second gold medal.

Schollander, an 18-year-old Yale student from Lake Oswego, Ore., foresialled any possible repetition of the 1960 dispute in this event with a clear-cut edge over England's Bobby McGregor and Germany's Hans Joachim Klein, second and third respectively in 53.5 and 54 flat.

The 100-meter freestyle produced one of the major disputes of the Rome Olympics, with Australia's John Devitt finally being declared the winner over the United States' Lance Larsen.

Schollander, the world record holder at 200 and 400 meters freestyle, held a slight edge at the turn today, then poured it on in the final 50.

"It's the greatest feeling of my life," said the youth who is the outstanding favorite to win the 400-meter freestyle and also is scheduled to swim in the 400 and 800 meter freestyle relays and possibly the 400-meter medley relay.

"I think in the last few meters I was more tired than I ever have been in my life," he said. "It was the greatest feeling in my life. I can't tell you how happy I am."

He said he was confident he would win the gold medal.

"Nothing bothered me at all," he said. "But I didn't have a thing left at the end."

Gary Ilman, San Jose, Calif., who had set the Olympic record of 53.9 in the semis, was fourth in 54 flat, Mike Austin of Rochester, N.Y., sixth in 54.4.

Other Medal Winners For U.S.

Other U.S. medal winners were Jeanne Collier and Patsy Willard, second and third in women's springboard diving; bantamweight Isaac Berger second in weightlifting, and Claudia Kolb, second to Miss Prozumenschikova in the women's 200-meter breaststroke.

The 15-year-old Russian girl was timed in 2:46.4, a Games record, while Miss Kolb, from Santa Clara, Calif., finished in 2:47.6.

Miss Collier, a pert 18-year-old from Phoenix, took second in springboard diving on the strength of an outstanding effort on her final dive, giving her a total of 138.36 points and a paper-thin edge over Miss Willard, Mesa, Ariz., who had 138.18.

Germany's Ingrid Kramer-Engel, the defending champion, won the gold medal with 145.0 points.

Berger won the silver medal in his weightlifting division with a total lift of 841.5 pounds, well back of Japanese winner Yoshinobu Miyake who had 874.5.

In general, American swimmers advanced as expected, with Miss Kolb's second place in the 200-meter breaststroke a pleasant surprise.

Jed Graef, Verona, N.J., and Gary Dilley, Huntington, Ind., bettered the Olympic record in the 200-meter backstroke within minutes of each other in winning their semifinals. Dilley got it first, at 2:13.7, and moments later Graef trimmed a tenth of a second off. Bob Bennett, Long Beach, Calif., also made it into the finals.

Two American Girls Gain Finals

Sharon Stouder, Glendora, Calif., won her heat in the women's 100-meter semis in 1:01.4 and Kathy Ellis, Indianapolis, also qualified for the finals in 1:02.5.

Australia's veteran Dawn Fraser, however, led the parade with a time of 59.9 seconds, breaking her own Olympic record. Jeanne Hallock, Arcadia, Calif., made it into the semis but no further, being timed in 1:02.9 and failing to make the field of eight finalists.

The United States advanced the maximum three man team into the finals of the 400-meter individual medley with Carl Robie, Drexel Hill, Pa., leading the way with a time of 4:52 flat. Since this was the first time the event had been held in the Olympics, his time qualified as a record.

Dick Roth, Atherton, Calif., and Roy Saari, El Segundo, Calif., also reached the finals with times of 5:01.3 and 5:02.3 respectively.

Frank Gorman, a Navy Officer from New York, and Larry Andreason of Los Alamitos, Calif., held first and second place after the first two dives in the men's springboard diving, and the powerful, favored U.S. basketball team continued to roll.

Gorman had 25.44 points and Andreason 24.27.

The basketball team, sparked by Jerry Shipp, Bartlesville, Okla., and Joe Caldwell, Arizona State University, romped over Finland 77-51.

40th Straight Basketball Win

Shipp scored 18 points, Caldwell 16 in the second straight U.S. victory in this Olympics and 40th straight since the sport was made a part of the Games in 1936.

U.S. forces, however, suffered two major disappointments, an upset loss by welterweight boxer Maurice Frilot and an ankle injury to Gerry Lindgren, 18-year-old distance sensation from Spokane, Wash.

Lindgren suffered a twisted ankle, which was swollen badly, while training for the 10,000-meter run scheduled Wednesday.

Frilot, a marine corporal from Denver, was a prime candidate for a gold medal. He was floored three times before being outpointed by Ugandan Ernest Mabwa.

Lady Luck Smiles On St. Louis—Again

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP) — It was Branch Rickey, now a consultant with the St. Louis club, who once said:

"Luck is the residue of desire."

The Cardinals must have a lot of desire because through the years they have had a lot of luck in World Series play.

It is this residue of desire that helped the Cards win the World Series in 1926, 1930, 1934, 1942, 1944 and 1946.

The 4-3 triumph over the New York Yankees yesterday which squared the 1964 World Series at two victories apiece demonstrated anew that the Cardinal luck — ballplayers call it "breaks" — is still holding out.

In Missouri, they are singing the praises of Kenny Boyer, whose grand slam homer in the sixth inning overcame a 3-0 Yankee lead.

In Lakewood, Calif., and Toronto, Canada, they are rejoicing over the brilliant relief pitching of hometown heroes Roger Craig and Ron Taylor.

In Houston, they are happy over Johnny Keane, who is managing the heck out of the Cardinals, seeking his first world championship in his 27th year of managing.

But in New York, they will tell you that it took a break for the Cardinals to win the fourth game — rare miscue by the usually sure-handed Bobby Richardson on a sure-fire double play ball that would have ended the inning without a score.

There were two runners on base with one out when Dick Groat hit a routine grounder to the right of second base. Richardson fielded the ball, tried to shovel it over to Phil Linz for what looked like the start of a twin killing.

RICHARDSON EXPLAINS

Let Richardson explain what happened:

"It got stuck in my web. As Phil came across, I hesitated, throwing him off his timing and when I threw it with my gloved hand, (Curt) Flood hit Linz and he couldn't handle the throw."

Instead of the inning being over, the Cards had the bases loaded. Boyer unloaded them two pitches later with a smash into the left field stands. Until then, young Al Downing had a three-hit shutout.

Thus, instead of the Yankees having a chance to end it at Yankee Stadium today, they must return to St. Louis Tuesday for a sixth game Wednesday, and perhaps a seventh game Thursday.

The Yankees' Mel Stottlemyre and the Cards' Bob Gibson, who clashed in the second game, renewed their rivalry in the fifth game.

Stottlemyre came out the winner in the first meeting, limiting the Cards to seven hits in an 8-3 triumph. Although he lost, Gibson was impressive, striking out nine in eight innings, permitting only two runs until he tired in the seventh.

HANDCUFFS YANKS

Sunday's victory was credited to Craig, who handcuffed the Yankees with just two singles in 4 2-3 innings of relief pitching. The 33-year-old right-hander took over with one out in the first inning after the Yankees had raked starter Ray Sadecki for four straight hits.

Craig permitted a run-scoring single by Elston Howard, then allowed only one more while fanning eight before retiring for a pinch hitter in the sixth.

Carl Warwick, came through with a single, giving him three pinch hits so far for a share of that Series record, igniting the winning rally.

Taylor polished off the Yankees without a hit over the last four innings.

"I like our club's chances better now than I did at the start of the Series," said Keane. "Winning this game set us up good. Our pitching is set for the final games, even if it goes the limit of seven. I sure like the way we stand."

Keane admitted that Richardson's fumble of Dick Groat's grounder was the big break of the game.

A break decided the Cards' first World Series triumph, in 1926, against the Yankees. That break came when Tony Lazzeri drove a long foul that missed being a game-winning grand slam homer by a hair, just before Grover Cleveland Alexander struck him out.

In the 1931 World Series, two fluke hits and erratic support behind George Earnshaw accounted for four early St. Louis runs that gave the Cardinals a 4-2 victory in the seventh game against the Philadelphia Athletics.

12 ERRORS

The Cards also won in seven games in 1934 when the Dean boys, Dizzy and Daffy, turned in two victories apiece against Detroit. But the Series would never have gone the limit had not the Tigers committed 12 errors.

In 1942, a rookie right-hander named Johnny Beazley turned in the unprecedented feat of beating the Yankees twice in the Cards' four-out-of-five success. Joe Gordon threw away the last game for the Yankees when catcher Walker Cooper caught him off second in the ninth inning, spiking New York's final threat.

Two years later, a wild throw by shortstop Junior Stephens helped the Cards score three runs that gave them a final 3-1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns. The 1964 Series will be remembered for Enos Slaughter's mad dash home from first on a hit to left center by Harry Walker. Slaughter scored the winning run in the seventh game, much to the chagrin of Boston Red Sox shortstop Johnny Pesky, who delayed relaying the ball from the outfield.

PACKER'S TAYLOR WRECKS 49ER BID

MILWAUKEE (AP) — "Only a great back could have done it."

This was Dick Voris, defensive coach of the San Francisco 49ers, talking about Jim Taylor, who celebrated his return to the Green Bay Packer lineup yesterday by scoring two touchdowns and rushing for 133 yards.

Taylor's 27-yard scoring dash in the fourth quarter put the Packers ahead to stay and was the turning point in Green Bay's 24-14 victory over the 49ers.

Taylor smashed directly up the middle and past and through the 49er secondary on a play known as "double isolation." The Packer guards fanned out to the sides pulling the keying corner linebackers with them and the offensive center blocked middle linebacker Mike Dowdle.

The 49ers lost the lead twice in the game. Quarterback John Brodie, who personally accounted for 231 of San Francisco's 270 net yards, scampered 26 yards to the Packer one yard line in the first period. Mike Lind plunged over.

"It was just a pass play which got botched up," Brodie said about this run.

The Packers tied it by driving 58 yards on 11 plays in the second period. Taylor pushed over from the one on fourth down after he apparently was stopped short by three 49ers.

Taylor was forced to carry the brunt of the Packer attack because Paul Hornung suffered a pinched nerve when tackled on a first half draw play.

"On Taylor's counter plays," Voris explained, "he'd hit the tackle where the play was supposed to go, find it clogged, move out to end Dan Colchico, find that blocked, try the linebacker, find him there, and then swing completely outside for a lot of his big gains."

The Packers moved ahead 10-7 on a third period field goal by Hornung from 21 yards away

But the 49ers, playing before 47,380, largest crowd ever to watch pro football in Wisconsin, went ahead 14-10 in the third period on a 75 yards drive in 14 plays, ending when Brodie ran over from the one on a fourth down.

The drive featured the 1964 offensive debut of Abe Woodson at flanker for the injured Bernie Casey and then Dale Messer, who picked up a wrenched knee in the game. Woodson was in on one play, beat his man, and earned a pass interference penalty call that kept the 49er drive alive.

But Taylor moved the Packers ahead with his 27 yard run and Green Bay scored again after Brodie was hit from the blind side while passing and fumbled on his 25-yard line. Boyd Dowler took an eight-yard pass from Bart Starr for the clincher.

The 49ers, now 2-3 in National League play, hope to have Casey back when they invade Los Angeles next Sunday. The Packers, now 3-2, don't know about Hornung for their crucial clash next Sunday against Baltimore, the Western Division leader.

"I think Green Bay's got a great football team," said 49er head coach Jack Christiansen. "As for my own team's play, I have no comment. The turning point in this game came on the opening kickoff."

Notes On Yankees, Cardinals

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Figuring the Series:

Yankee slugger Mickey Mantle, who established a Series record by hitting his 16th homer Saturday, extended two more of his career marks yesterday. He walked twice and struck out once, lifting his Series totals to 41 bases on balls and 50 strikeouts.

Ken Boyer, whose bases-filled home run powered the Cards to the 4-3 victory, was the National League co-leader with Houston's Bob Aspromonte during the regular season. Each hit two grand slams, Boyer getting his off the Mets' Bill Wakefield on July 18 and off Philadelphia's Dennis Bennett July 25.

Boyer's victim, lefty Al Downing of the Yanks, yielded one grand slam in regular American League season — to Nelson Mathews of Kansas City on Aug. 5.

Carl Warwick of the Cards, who has three-for-three as a Series pinch-hitter, had 10 hits in 44 pinch-hit attempts in the regular season for a .227 average. His over-all batting mark was .259.

Stanford Star Honored Again

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—For the second consecutive week, Stanford linebacker Jack Chapple was named today as the Pacific Athletic Conference's lineman-of-the-week.

His 39-yard touchdown runback of an intercepted pass broke a 7-7 tie against Rice and led to the Indians' 34-7 victory.

Chapple also participated in 16 tackles, one of which stopped a Rice drive at the Stanford one.

From Coronado, Calif., Chapple is a 6-2½ senior weighing 222.

Jurgensen, Taylor Dominate Pro Grid Action

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Baltimore hosts St. Louis tonight in a National Football League game that could shake up the two division standings a bit, but the talk around the league is about Sonny Jurgensen, the quarterback the Philadelphia Eagles didn't want.

Jurgensen put on a spectacular passing show as the Washington Redskins won their first game of the season, 35-20, against the Eagles yesterday.

The veteran signal caller discussed the game with a smile.

"It's a heck of a lot easier," Jurgensen said, "to throw the ball standing up."

Jurgensen spent most of his first four games as a Redskin nursing a bad left knee on the sidelines or massaging the turf when he did play. It was a dif ferent story yesterday.

He clicked on 22 of 33 passes for 386 yards and five touchdowns. It was the best one-day show by an NFL quarterback this year and the fact that Jurgensen did it against the Eagles didn't exactly sadden the ex-Philadelphia passer.

Elsewhere in the NFL Sunday, Green Bay topped San Francisco 24-14, Chicago whacked Los Angeles 38-17, Detroit outlasted Minnesota 24-20 and New York struggled to a 13-13 tie against Dallas. In a Saturday night game Pittsburgh upset Cleveland 23-7.

In the American League, Denver stopped Kansas City 33-27 and Buffalo battered Houston 48-17. Saturday night, it was New York oevr Oakland 35-13.

Jim Taylor scored twice and rolled up 133 yards in 23 carries as the Packers got by the 49ers. The yardage moved Taylor ahead of Steve Van Burean into third place among all-time NFL ground gainers. Only Jimmy Brown's 9,322 and Joe Perry's 8,378 top Taylor's 5,959.

The Packers' Paul Hornung suffered a pinched shoulder nerve in second period and handled only kicking chores after that. But Taylor's rushing picked up the slack.

Billy Wade fired four touchdown passes, two each to Johnny Morris and Mike Ditka, as the Bears snapped their two-game losing string. Chicago turned three interceptions into scores in the first half and raced to a 24-3 halftime margin.

The Lions tied the Colts for the Western Division lead but it wasn't easy against the stubborn Vikings. Detroit scored the winning touchdown on a 12-yard Earl Morrall pass to Gail Cogdill early in the fourth period.

The Vikings narrowed it on Fred Cox' field goal and then drove downfield behind Fran Tarkenton. But the Lions' defensive unit, anchored by Alex Karras and Sam Williams, dumped the Minnesota quarterback for a pair of hefty losses stalling the drive and Detroit held on to win it.

Dallas' Don Perkins took over the NFL rushing lead with 137 yards against the Giants, running his season's total to 458, before leaving the game with a possible kidney injury and a cracked wrist. New York scored twice in the second period but Don Chandler missed a conversion placement.

Don Meredith scored on a 10-yard run tying it in the fourth quarter. Dallas' Dick Van Raphorst missed two field goal attempts — one from the 35 and the other from the 40 — in the final three minutes.

John Henry Johnson ripped off 200 yards in 30 carries for the Steelers' victory. Pittsburgh's ball control game stifled the Cleveland offense and Steeler quarterback Ed Brown threw only 11 passes, hitting on nine.

MARIN GOLF

Boy, 17, Captures Norcal Tourney

Johnny Miller, only 17 years old, today has another title for his collection.

The young San Francisco golfer won the Northern California medal play championship held over the weekend at two Marin County courses, Meadow Club in Fairfax and Peacock Gap in San Rafael.

Miller posted rounds yesterday of 70 and 71 at Peacock Gap to go with his 67 and 72 scored Friday and Saturday at the Meadow Club. Miller is also the national junior golf champ.

Miller won by two strokes over Clyde Sniffen, an airman from Hamilton Air Force Base, and Ron Cerrudo of Chabot College, the pre-tourney favorite. Miller totaled 280 to 282 for Sniffen and Cerrudo.

Cerrudo had a bit of tough luck when his putter was stolen from his bag at the Meadow Club Saturday. He finished the tourney with a borrowed putter.

Miller dropped a 40-foot putt on the 13th hole yesterday and then wrapped up the title with another birdie on the 16th hole.

Sniffen, who finished high on the list in the 1962 Public Links Championship at Sacramento, had fine rounds of 69 and 71 yesterday at Peacock Gap. Playing with his "new" putter, Cerrudo jumped to a 74 in the morning round and then settled down to a 68 in the afternoon.

Bill Zimmerman of the Meadow Club won the Peacock Gap flight with a net 135. Lynn H. Sumpter of Indian Valley tied for second with a net 139.

STANDOFF FOR SEALS OVER THE WEEKEND

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — All the defending champion San Francisco Seals could manage after the opening week of Western Hockey League play was a standoff after two games.

The Seals lost 7-2 to the Portland Buckaroos last night in the only scheduled game. There were no games scheduled tonight in the league, now led by the Los Angeles Blades, undefeated in two contests.

Portland jumped to a 6-0 lead before the Seals could crease the net. The Buckaroos, in squaring their Cow Palace series with the Seals, got two goals each from Pat Stapleton, Andy Hebenton and Tommy McVie. Art Jones scored once.

Jerry Ouellette and Gerry Odrowski scored for the Seals.

A crowd of 3,782 saw the contest.

Race Driver Killed

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP)—Hobart Noel, 34, Logansport, Ind., stock car driver, died today in Lutheran Hospital from injuries received Sunday in a race at El Dora Park, Rossburg, Ohio.

Yacht Columbia Skipper Dies

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Requiem Mass will be said tomorrow for Walter Podolak, 50, who skippered the yacht Columbia in the 1964 America's Cup trials.

Podolak suffered a heart attack Saturday while sailing his 10-meter sloop Coquille off Newport Beach. Aboard were his wife, Charlotte, and son, James.

The coroner's office said the vessel radioed for help, but a lifeguard crew's efforts to revive Podolak with oxygen and heart massage were futile. He was pronounced dead on arrival at nearby Hoag Memorial Hospital.

He was president of the Plasticon Products Corp. in nearby Santa Ana.

Huskies Warned: Indians Defense Can Be Explosive

By JACK STEVENSON

STANFORD (AP)—Washington's Huskies had better teach their offensive platoon some defense this week.

For the Huskies battle the Indians of Stanford on Saturday and the Tribe's defensive corps turned their battle with Rice into a 34-7 rout.

Much maligned through the season's first three games, the Stanford defenders intercepted five second half passes and discovered how much fun it is to run with the football.

Linebacker Jack Chapple blocked and grabbed a Walt McReynolds pass in the third quarter and rambled 3 9 yards to score and break a 7-7 deadlock.

Then followed four interceptions in the fourth quarter.

Braden Beck booted a 20-yard field goal after Jack Lodato grabbed a Ronnie Waldo pass.

John Wilbur, on a tackle eligible pass play borrowed from UCLA, took Terry DeSylvia's 10-yard pass for a touchdown three plays after Guy Rounsaville intercepted a Waldo pass and returned to the Rice 15.

Rounsalville, at defensive end, next grabbed a McReynolds pass and ran 22 yards to score. Finally, Beck booted a 31-yard field goal six plays after Roger Clay grabbed a McReynolds pass at the Rice 28.

While all this was going on, Washington was being outpointed 9-7 by Oregon State. It was in 1961 that Stanford last scored as many as 34 points and the opponent then was Oregon State.

LONG WAIT

Junior quarterback Dick Berg, from Puyallup, Wash., declared, "I've waited 21 years of my life to beat Washington. Next week is it."

Berg was the man who put life into the Stanford offense last Saturday. Trailing 7-0, Berg replaced DeSylvia and drove the Tribe 59 yards in 13 plays for a touchdown, run over by Ray Handley. The quarterback hit three passes for 32 yards in the drive.

Coach John Ralston revealed that in the second half against Rice, the Stanford defensive ends began dropping off. Rounsaville added, "Their quarterback dropped the ball into my hands both times."

Tam Shuts Out San Rafael, 13-0

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The San Rafael Bulldogs are in the doghouse today and the Tamalpais High School Indians are doing a victory dance celebrating their first football victory of 1964.

The Indians blanked the San Rafael gridders 13-0 Saturday night before about 2,800 fans in the Bulldog's stadium, giving Tam a 1-1 record in Marin Athletic League play. San Rafael, which drew the opening week bye in MAL action, has a 0-1 league mark.

Tam scored its touchdowns in the first and last quarters of the game. First score came with 3:40 left in the opening stanza on an 83-yard drive that was highlighted by a big 43-yard pass play. The entire drive took 11 plays.

Big move of the drive was a dazzling pass play that went from quarterback Randy Fontan to end Ron Pedersen who handled it like a hot potato and quickly lateraled to halfback Ray Stark who was trailing the play. Stark ran the ball to the San Rafael 34 where it was first and ten.

Keeping the drive alive, halfback Mike Holloway ran around left end on a fourth-and-eight play and picked up 15 yards to the San Rafael 3. An offside penalty against Bulldogs pushed the ball to the 1½, half the distance to the goal. Then fullback Alex Robertson cracked through left guard for the score. Ralph Gardner added the seventh point on a kick.

That was all the scoring until 2 minutes and 19 seconds had elapsed in the final quarter when Tam scored again, but this time it was like lightning. San Rafael, stopped on its own 9-yard line, was forced to punt, with Tim Harr booting a 32-yarder, giving Tam a first down on the San Rafael 41.

On the first play, after the punt, Tam's Robertson tried right guard and was held at the line of scrimmage. So Tam decided to go to the air. Quarterback Will Stubblebine, who was shuttling with Fontan throughout the game, found wingback Steve Hewett in front of his man down the middle and hit him with a pass. It was good for 41 yards and the TD that iced the game. Garner's kick hit the goal post this time, and bounced back to the field.

Both teams scored touchdowns that were called back because of penalties. First to get the bad break was San Rafael in the second quarter, just before the end of the half. Herr hit fullback Rocky Shone with a 28-yard pass that appeared good for a touchdown, but one of San Rafael's guards was too far from the line of scrimmage and the Bulldogs were called for having an illegal receiver too far down field. That cost San Rafael six points, for the gun ending the half went out before the Bulldogs could complete their series of plays.

In the third quarter, it was Tam's turn to lose a TD. The Indians got a first down on their own 40 when Joe Cunningham's kickoff to open the second half went out of bounds, giving the Indians an automatic first-and-ten on their 40. Ten plays, featured by another Fontan-to-Pedersen-to-Stark pass for 25 yards and a 16-yard aerial from Stubblebine to end Fred Hilton, moved the ball to the San Rafael four. From there, Hewett skirted left end for an apparent touchdown, but a personal foul against Tam nullified the play.

Before the Tam series was over, another 15-yard penalty was assessed to the Indians, moving the ball all the way back to the 34 where it was fourth and goal to go. Tam had to punt.

The Bulldogs tried to give touchdowns to Tam twice in the third quarter, but the Indians didn't take advantage of the breaks. The San Rafael defense, quickly called upon twice to hold, did just that.

Midway in the third period San Rafael quarterback Jay Widmer fumbled and Tam's Paul Austin recovered on the Bulldogs' 28. But after Paul Morse threw Fontan for a 17-yard loss, the Indians were forced to punt on fourth down.

Three plays later, Harr fumbled and Tam's Ernie Bergman fell on the ball, giving Tam a first down on the San Rafael 29. But the Bulldogs finally stopped the drive on the six when Fontan's fourth down pass went incomplete.

Tam got most of its yardage in the air, 132 of a total of 213. San Rafael gained 136 on the ground and 22 in the air. Top runners in the game were Tam's Hewett with 72 yards and San Rafael's Harr with 82. Stubblebine threw for 64 yards and Fontan hit for 68 to lead the Tam air attack.

UNBEATEN DRAKE BLASTS MARIN CATHOLIC

By MAURICE WEINGER

Scoring the first-three times the ball was in their possession, the Drake Pirates easily shut out Marin Catholic 33-0 Saturday night at Kentfield.

The game was all over after the first quarter when the Pirates built up a comfortable 20-0 lead and coasted the rest of the way with reserves alternating throughout the contest. The victory was Drake's fourth straight of the season and left them tied with Terra Linda as the only undefeated teams in the Marin County Athletic League, both with 2-0 marks.

The big gunners for the Pirates were backs Dean Lazzarini and Joe De Masi. Lazzarini, the Mr. Outside of the Pirate attack, carried the ball only nine times for 88 yards while De Masi, the Mr. Inside of the ground game, gained 86 yards on nine carries.

Both backs reached the end zone twice as the larger Pirate team outrushed the smaller Marin team 402-60 yards. The loss was the second straight league loss for the Wildcats, last week losing 43-0 to Novato.

Drake's first score came with only 2:10 minutes played in the contest when the Wildcats attempted to punt, but a high pass from center to punter Bob Lombardi resulted in linebacker Bruce Trimble crashing in to block the kick and Bob Edelstein recovering the ball on the four yard line.

Lazzarini's first run of the game, around end, went all the way, but an offside penalty brought the ball back to the nine. This time the call went to huge De Masi, off left guard, and no one touched him for the fast six points.

The Pirates came right back after forcing the Wildcats to punt and drove 69 yards on nine plays. Again it was Lazzarini and De Masi alternating runs along with quarterback Allen Simontacchi throwing two quick look-in passes to ends Stan Carter for six and Larry Stein for five, the latter reception bringing the ball down to the Wildcat 20 yard line.

Lazzarini quickly ended the drive with a dash around left end to outrun the Wildcat defense for his longest run of the contest.

The third score really showed Drake's all around offensive power. Starting from M.C.'s 43, the Pirates were penalized 15 yards on clipping when halfback John Boothby tried a double reverse run.

Simontacchi, however, went to the air on a third down situation. He shot a short down-the-middle checkoff pass to De Masi for 18 and, with five yards still needed for a first down, went for broke with a direct liner to Stein, who grabbed it on the 20 and scored to culminate a 38-yard pass play.

All told the Pirates had 14 offensive plays and made it work for 20 points.

Simontacchi engineered the third quarter score, mixing up the running and passing plays. Reserve halfback Brad Kritsky started the scoring drive with the second half kick-off by getting eight and Simontacchi added another three on a quarterback sneak. De Masi then broke for 10 yards up the middle and a first down on Marin's 43. After another quarterback sneak for six, the big signal caller found his favorite receiver Stein clear for a first down shot on the 31.

De Masi and Simontacchi each carried the ball twice on the next four plays with the big fullback cashing in with the last 18 yards off left guard.

The last score was keyed on another checkoff down the middle pass from Big Al to De Masi, this one for 21 yards and a first down on the 11. Lazzarini ended the quick drive rolling around right end for six points.

Drake JVs also blanked Marin Catholic, 27-0.

Petaluma Clouts Redwood

The rough and rugged boys from Petaluma High School came to Kentfield Saturday for the second time this year, but this time they left happier.

The Petaluma Trojans bombed the Redwood Giants 47-13 in a non-league football game in College of Marin stadium. Back on Sept. 19, the Petalumans came to Kentfield to take on the Drake Pirates and left Marin County a little sadder after a 19-14 loss.

The Trojans' flashy tailback, Nino Pedrini, ran for three touchdowns an jaunts of 4, 19 and 20 yards and passed 40 yards to Joe Wong for another. Quarterback Joe Decker scored on a three-yard run and passed 1½ yards to Kirk Hay for another. Len LaCasse hit for the final Trojan touchdown on a 10-yard aerial from sub quarterback Tom Nelson in the final quarter.

Fullback Dan Kelly did all of Redwood's scoring, with a touchdown in each of the second and third quarters, both on one-yard plunges. He added the extra point after his second touchdown, running the ball to the end zone.

Petaluma's Lindy Castelli kicked five of seven extra points attempts.

Redwood gets back to Marin Atheltic League action next Saturday with a game against San Rafael High School, 2 p.m., in College of Marin stadium.

DAM BURSTS ON RAIDERS

NEW YORK (AP)—Al Davis, who was coach of the year in the American Football League last season, looks at his Oakland Raiders' 0-5 record with the proper chagrin, but he isn't ready to surrender the season.

"I'm no miracle man, as you can see by our record," said Davis, whose team lost 35-13 to the New York Jets Saturday night. "I worked just as hard this year as I did last, probably harder. But things aren't falling in proper slots.

"We didn't play well against the Jets," Davis admitted. "We certainly didn't deserve to win. Neither did we deserve to fall behind 35-0. The dam burst on us."

The Raiders scored their two touchdowns in the fourth quarter after most of the 34,497 freezing fans went home.

Billy Cannon plunged over from the one for the first Oakland score. Cotton Davidson hit Clem Daniels with a 13-yard touchdown pass for the Raiders' final trip to the end zone. Touchdown passes from Davidson to Daniels of 15 and 36 yards were called back earlier because of penalties.

The Raiders, who meet once-defeated Boston this Friday, couldn't gain on the ground against the Jets and couldn't stop the New York rushing attack.

By the time the game was over, the Raiders had gained 17 yards on the ground compared to the Jets' 231 yards, 168 of them by rookie Matt Snell, who set a club record.

But the Raiders actually earned the edge in net yards gained by passing for 389 yards as compared to the Jets' 82. Many of those yards, however, came in the last quarter after the issue was decided.

In addition to his record running, Snell scored twice on short runs for the Jets, now 2-1-1 in AFL play.

Women's Tennis Play

Marin Women's Tennis Club lost to the Golden Gate Women's Tennis Club last Wednesday at the Albert Park courts in San Rafael.

Marin winners included Mrs. Jack F. Murphy in the singles and Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Howard L. Carlson, Mrs. W. S. George and Mrs. Wallace Painter in doubles.

YACHTING ROUNDUP

Gal Shows Up Men In Winter Opener

Sally Mathews showed the menfolk how to do it yesterday when she piloted Arion to victory in the opener of the Corinthian Yacht Club's 13th annual midwinter sailing regatta series an San Francisco Bay.

Sally won over 14 other boats when she covered the 5.3 mile course in 1:17:30. Second place Cyrene was timed at 1:29:46.

Lack of wind hit the finale of the Danforth Memorial Ocean Racing Trophy series last night, causing it to be called no contest. Most of the 26 starters had quit by 10 p.m.

TWO SAN LEANDRO Yacht Club members took honors Saturday in power boat racing.

Lee Graves won the overall trophy in the Golden Gate Y.C.'s over-the-bottom race, and Leroy McKissick Jr. came out as the unofficial 1964 champion of the Northern California Power Cruiser Assn.'s eight-heat season.

Graves steered his 26-foot Gay Sal to Class B and the field's best performance trophies when he covered the 13.5 mile San Francisco Bay course with a navigation error of 20 seconds, or 160 points.

McKissick won a second place in the C division with his boat, Tika, runner-up to Neo, but the effort appeared enough for the overall win. Narcie, skippered by Garth Chamblin, won Class A.

SUPREME COURT ROUNDUP

Baseball, Integration, State Hospital Charges On Tap

Combined A.P. & U.P.I.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused Monday to review a lower court order for jury trial of a million dollar libel suit by Orlando Cepeda of the San Francisco Giants against Look Magazine.

Other actions of the nation's highest court touched on segregation in education, parodies of popular music, California's family support laws, the ban on travel to Cuba and reapportionment. (See also story on page one.)

Cepeda sought damages for an article in Look of May 21, 1963. It said his performance as a baseball player had sunk badly in the last half of the 1962 season and speculated that he was available for trade.

The U.S. District Court in San Francisco granted Look's request that the suit be dismissed, but later the U.S. Circuit Court in the same city ruled the case should be tried by a jury. The Circuit Court said the article "could not have any effect other than to cause injury to the reputation of a person in Cepeda's position."

Look's appeal said:

"Whenever a man such as Cepeda becomes prominent in a field such as sports he acquires a public position and cannot escape the necessary consequence —the free expression of public opinion.

"Sports figures, in particular, who elect a livelihood which thrusts them daily before the public eye should be able to thrive in a hardy climate of free public opinion and comment."

The court refused to examine claims that Mad magazine has improperly parodied such old-time lyrics as "The Last Time I Saw Paris" and "The Girl That I Marry."

The brief order leaves standing a decision of March 23, 1964, handed down by U.S. circuit court of appeals rejecting copyright infringement claims by composer Irving Berlin and a group of song publishers.

The court also agreed to examine the constitutionality of California's law requiring close relatives to pay for keeping the mentally ill in state institutions.

The California Supreme Court found the statute unconstitutional on Jan. 30, 1964. The Department of Mental Hygiene appealed.

Other states urged the federal tribunal to grant review; 42 states, plus the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico have laws like California'.

The state supreme court noted that the statute does not provide for any reimbursement from the assets of the patient. Social responsibilities, the opinion said, have been changing in the past half century.

"A statute obviously violates the equal protection clause (of the U.S. Constitution) if it selects one particular class of persons for a species of taxation and no rational basis supports such classification," it asserted.

The Supreme Court refused to rule on a contention that school officials should be allowed to classify children "on the basis of educational aptitudes because the difference in aptitude also is a racial characteristic."

The contention was made in an appeal in Charleston, S.C. U.S. District Judge J. Robert Martin of Greenville, S.C. refused to make findings on the contention when he ordered desegregation of Charleston schools.

The Supreme Court agreed to review a lower court decision that the secretary of state may prohibit travel of U.S. citizens to Cuba.

Zemel, a U.S. citizen, in 1962 held a passport which he requested the passport office in Washington to validate for travel to Cuba as a tourist. His request was denied with the explanation that only persons whose travel might be in the best interests of the United States, such as newsmen and businessmen with previously established interests, were eligible.

Zemel said he wished to satisfy his curiousity about the state of affairs in Cuba so as to make him a better-informed citizen.

New Job Corps Head Named

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dr. Otis Singletary, 43, a Southern educator, is coming to Washington to head the new job corps, a major program in President Lyndon B. Johnson's war on poverty.

Johnson's appointment of Singletary, a Mississippi native and University of North Carolina chancellor, was announced over the weekend.

The ultimate aim is to provide training leading to employment for about one million jobless youths.

Street Car Kills Seaman In Tunnel

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—An unemployed merchant seaman was struck and killed by a street car while walking in the Twin Peaks Tunnel in San Francisco last night. The tunnel is for street cars only.

The coroner's office identified the man as Gustav Hallenborg, 49.

'Samaritan' Threatened By Driver

Richmond Man Arrested After 'Erratic' Trip

A San Anselmo man who played "good Samaritan" when he saw a car going the wrong way on San Rafael's Fifth Avenue was threatened by the driver with a knife and a tire iron, he told police.

Eddy Lee West, 33, of Richmond was released on $1,100 bail after San Rafael police booked him on a citizen's arrest charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

The citizen's arrest was signed by Alexander Y. Watson of 28 Floribel Avenue, San Anselmo.

Watson said he saw West driving erratically on Fifth Avenue near Mount Tamalpais Cemetery about 5 p.m. Saturday.

STRIKES POSTS

The car hit three pillars at the entrance to the cemetery while making a U-turn, he said. Then West drove east along Fifth on the wrong side of the street.

The car nearly struck a group of children in the 2500 block, Watson said. When West stopped abruptly to avoid striking the youngsters, Watson pulled his car alongside and suggested West "take a nap before continuing," he related.

JUMPS OUT

West jumped out of his car brandishing the knife, Watson claimed. Watson quickly rolled up his car window, whereupon West jammed the blade back in his pocket, walked back to his car and pulled the tire iron from the trunk.

Swinging the tire iron, West returned threatening to "bring him down to his proper size," Watson related.

Watson beat a hasty retreat to a nearby home and called police. Officers took West into custody as he was preparing to leave the scene.

Traffic Tangle Injures Woman

A 35-year-old San Francisco woman suffered minor injuries when the car in which she was riding was caught in the middle of a three-car crash on Highway 1 in Tamalpais Valley at 12:15 p.m. Saturday.

The California Highway Patrol said Mrs. Virginia B. Duncan was in a car driven by her husband, Bruce G. Duncan, 39. It was struck from behind by one driven by Linda Lou Byrne, 17, of 175 Janes Street, Mill Valley, which knocked the Duncan car into the rear of one driven by Paul T. Rigby Jr., 23, of 926 Vernal Avenue, Mill Valley. The patrol said Mrs. Duncan would see a doctor for treatment.

EDDIE CANTOR
Last of a trio

Comedian Eddie Cantor Dies At 72

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Eddie Cantor will be buried as he spent most of the last 11 years of his life — apart from the public that made him a top star during a golden era of American entertainment.

Groman Mortuary announced today that funeral services for the 72-year-old comedian, who died of a heart attack Saturday night, will be private.

Cantor was the last of a trio of great comedy figures to pass from the Hollywood scene in recent weeks. Gracie Allen of the Burns and Allen team died Aug. 27, and Harpo Marx of the Marx Brothers succumbed two weeks ago.

Cantor died at his Beverly Hills home. Two of his daughters, Mrs. Natalie Metzger and Mrs. Edna McHugh, were at his bedside. Two other daughters, Marilyn Cantor and Mrs. Janet Gari, live in New York. A fifth daughter, Marjorie, who had been the comedian's secretary, died of cancer May 17, 1959. His wife, Ida, died in 1962.

Cantor was born Edward Iskowitz in New York City Jan. 31, 1892. He came out of the slums with a vitality that soon captured audiences wherever he performed. A small man, he possessed enormous energy.

"If you knew Susy," he chanted to the audience, tapping his palms together.

"We're making whoopee," he sang, with a roll of his immense banjo-eyes that were expressive without being offensive.

Two generations became acquainted with the high-pitched voice, the crisp gag line.

With his death, Cantor's great efforts for human causes were remembered. He raised staggering amounts for war bonds during the first and second World Wars, the Heart Fund, Bonds for Israel and other causes.

Cantor's career spanned the years from amateur night in the Bowery to burlesque to vaudeville to the Ziegfeld Follies to movies, radio and television.

Billiard Ball Tosser Killed

OAKLAND (AP)—Oakland police said yesterday a man was shot and killed after he threw two billiard balls at a heckler in a poolroom.

Police said Gilbert then shot Payne with a .38-caliber revolver.

Gilbert was held for investigation of murder.

Anti-Coronary Club Proves Worth

By CHARLES SCHAEFFER
Advance News Service

NEW YORK—Memo to wives: Here's a club that may save your husband's life.

It's called the Anti-Coronary Club.

After seven years in the experimental group, 814 middle-aged men who stuck faithfully to tasty low-fat diets had markedly fewer heart attacks and coronary disease than a comparable control group of non-members who ate as they pleased.

MORE OF THE CLUB members, mostly white collar types, initially had higher blood pressure, higher cholesterol levels and more obesity than the non-members. All three conditions are suspected but unproved factors in developing heart disease.

At the outset, however, all 814 members and 420 non-members —aged 40 to 59—were completely free of clinically detectable heart disease.

EVEN THOUGH MORE club members displayed initially higher cholesterol, the special diet brought this down and kept it down over the next four years. This was a key part of the experiment, say the club supervisors, members of the New York Dept. of Health. They joined Dr. George Christakis of the Bureau of Nutrition in describing the Anti-Coronary Club to a meeting of the American Public Health Assn. here.

AT THE SEVEN-YEAR MARK of the study, volunteers on an uninhibited diet suffered 12 confirmed new heart attacks of some type, while club members had just eight. This latter figure projects to a fatality rate of 339 deaths per 100,000 persons —about one-third the incidence of free-wheeling eaters.

Of the club's charter members, 46 dropped out along the way. But follow-up questionnaires and exams found 42 free of coronary disease. And 43 non-members quit the study, of which 28 were later found apparently free of heart attacks.

The doctors said there is a strong likelihood that men elsewhere of the same age, if they observed the diet, would cut their risk of developing heart attacks by at least 43 per cent. Several other American diet studies showed reduced risks ranging from 14 per cent to 57 per cent.

WHAT DID THE CLUB members eat? Nearly everything—but in lesser amounts.

Meat containing saturated fats —beef, mutton, or pork—was limited to four times a week, with the remaining meals consisting of poultry and fish.

Low-fat margarine and vegetable oil replaced butter. Cheese and ice cream were excluded. Only one third of total daily calories were fat, with a higher ratio of polyunsaturates (those that are liquids at room temperature) to saturated fats. Doctors put the overweight on 1,600 calories a day, allowing just 19 per cent of the total as fat.

STICKING TO THE DIET, club members lowered their cholesterol from an average of 260 milligrams to 228 milligrams and held this level for four years. Uninhibited eaters averaged 250 milligrams.

Other studies show that 30 to 40 per cent of middle-aged men have levels of 260 or higher and therefore have six times the risk of heart disease than men with levels of 220 or lower.

THE EVIDENCE IS a direct challenge to the current fat-loaded American diet pattern.

The doctors said they don't know for sure whether the club's diet would work as well for people under less supervision. And there are other factors about nutrition to be worked out. Meanwhile, however, "a critical reappraisal of our nutritional way of life would appear to be in order," they said.

Strenuous Exercise Rates Low With Teens Under Study

A University of California study of teen-agers tends to confirm what many a parent already knows:

Strenuous physical work is rated rather low by both sexes.

Records show most of the teen-agers studied had little or no acquaintance with such activity.

"In fact, the outstanding finding from the records of activity so far evaluated is that of almost amazing inactivity, despite extreme 'busyness'."

These findings come from a preliminary report on Nutritional Evaluation of Teen-agers in Berkeley, prepared by Dr. Ruth L. Huenemann, associate professor of public health on Berkeley campus.

DR. HUENEMANN and her aides have been observing approximately 950 teen-agers in Berkeley's only public high school. The study started when the children were in the ninth grade. They are now in the 12th.

The students are measured annually and asked to fill out questionnaires on views of food, activity, and body size and shape.

Each child, after being measured each year, is given a diagram comparing his measurements with an average of those derived from many individuals.

"IT IS GRATIFYING to observe how these reports have stimulated youngsters to exercise or diet in order to improve their body conformation," Dr. Huenemann said.

She noted her findings, far from complete, show that "extremely fat" boys proved superior athletically to lean or average types in only one category—throwing a ball "where the additional weight of 'extremely fat' boys appeared to be an advantage."

THE STUDY DISCLOSES ninth grade girls knew their height and weight while the boys did not; that girls, even at that age, want to weigh less than they do, while the boys want to weigh more.

Also, "no more than 14 per cent of the girls were obese by objective standards, showing the teen-age girl has a false concept of desireable weight."

Dr. Huenemann said almost three-fourths of the girls and one-third of the boys were interested in improving their dimensions.

AMONG THE DOERS, diet outranked exercise by 50 per cent of the boys while three times as many girls adjusted their diet rather than exercise to lose weight.

Both boys and girls disapproved of formula diets and of drinking skim milk rather than whole, but they approved of eliminating other fat foods such as french fries, gravy, and salad dressing and of cutting down on sweets.

They favored eating larger amounts of vegetables and especially favored eating more fruit.

JAPANESE-STYLE BATH ... Feature of Women's Village.

OLYMPIC EVENT

Impressive Participation By Women

By HARRIETTE SHERMAN

TOKYO (AP)—The 1964 Olympics, which even before it opened has distinguished itself with superlatives — largest roster of athletes and officials, widest coverage, highest number of entrant countries — also represents the most impressive participation by women.

The fair sex is making contributions in just about every facet of the event, not just the athletics themselves.

THE TWO PRETTY daughters of Japan's prime minister, Sachiko and Noriko Ikeda, 24 and 22, serve as volunteer hostesses to wives and families of visiting international Olympic Committee members, along with some 30 other wives and daughters of prominent Japanese.

Women by far outnumber men on the Games' interpreting staff, estimated currently at about 250.

An elite guard of police women, all college educated, expert in judo and fluent in English and other languages, ensure the peace of the Women's Village, a tight little island of femininity within the Olympic Village.

HARU SADAKA, daughter of Admiral Toyoda and a former star athlete herself, is the lady whose charge it is to feed, house and minister to the 852 women athletes and officials — 100 more than originally expected — who stay at Joshi Mura, the euphonious Japanese name for Women's Village.

Participants from 52 countries are housed in the 276 rooms of four ferro-concrete buildings which like all the buildings of Joshi Mura are painted green, as distinct from the yellow of the men's section. Existing buildings, relics of Washington Heights, a former U.S. military housing area vacated permanently for the Olympic Village project, have been utilized and remodeled.

The former officers' club serves as the women's quarters center. A spacious two story building, it contains a dining hall, beauty parlor, shops for toiletries and other necessities, dry cleaning and laundry service, police women's contact office and recreation room with bar for refreshments — as elsewhere in the village, non-alcoholic.

THE DINING HALL, which is able to serve 250 meals at a time, is staffed by 50 cooks and 50 persons for serving and other chores.

Sure to delight the psyche and soothe the muscles of the women athletes is the Japanese - style bath adjacent to the living quarters. Especially constructed for the women's quarters, it features two separate tiled bathing pools, steam room and massage facilities.

Additional facilities, which are shared with the men in the Village proper, include a fully-equipped clinic, post office, fire station, bank and shopping center.

Cost for accommodations is $6 a day, including meals, planned to provide a total of 6,000 calories daily.

The American team, of whom 85 are women, will have perhaps the best deal of all, as the American Committee planned for it an elaborate activities program, exclusive of the offerings of the Tokyo Committee.

DOING THE LEG WORK in Japan is assistant activities director, Dee Beckmann, a tireless organizer who is herself a sportswoman and recreational specialist.

First woman to coach an American Olympic team, track and field in the Berlin Olympics, she planned individual and group tours of Tokyo sights and shopping, trips to such beauty spots as Mt. Fuji, lessons in tea ceremony and flower arranging.

THE WOMAN TOURIST who visits Japan during the Olympics can, of course, do all these things on her own. Most reliable shops and eating places will display the IGS — International Goodwill Shop — sign which promises courteous service and fair prices, and most are making a reasonable effort to supply information and prices in English.

A truly monumental job of road building has eased the hideous Tokyo traffic, cabbies carry reference texts of conversational phrases, special corps of police discourage con artists and pickpockets. An emergency phone number, 110, has been designated for foreigners in straits to call, and the welcome mat is out everywhere.

Nuptial Rate Of Year Tops Past Decade

The 12 months ending June 1964 showed the highest increase in marriages for any year in more than a decade. There were 1,711,000 marriages compared to 1,596,000 the previous period, an increase twice as great as that of the last year.

Not only has this spurt carried through the early months of 1964, but it is also expected to continue for many years to come.

This soaring marriage rate is due to the maturing of children born during the baby boom that took place during and after World War II. Another cause is the deferring of married men for the armed forces.

Gala Party For Membership Planned Oct. 20

Tamar Chapter of B'nai B'rith Women will host a champagne membership party, "Champagne and Magic," at the home of Mrs. Fred Kirschner of San Rafael at 8 p.m. on Oct. 20.

Mrs. William Falcon will present "Magic Lady," a monologue outlining the activities of B'nai B'rith. Steve Shain will perform as slight of hand magician.

Mrs. Stephen Cohen is program chairman and Mrs. Don Feurzig is chapter president.

Ironing Set Spots

Ironing over spots and stains will set them in the material.

Workshop Is Set In Eye-Screening

Twenty volunteers will participate in a workshop in eye screening Thursday at the Pacific Gas and Electric auditorium, in San Rafael, announced Mrs. Marion Kelley, executive director of the Volunteer Bureau of Marin.

Frederic S. Weisenheimer, Ed.D., project director for the California Society for the Prevention of Blindness, and Mrs. Barbara Van Veen, public health nurse-consultant, are planning the day-long program. The Marin County Health Department will furnish a recent film on amblyopia.

Amblyopia is an eye disorder that is sometimes called "lazy eye." When vision is sharp in one eye and poor in the other the child stops using the eye that sees poorly. The result is that normal vision fails to develop in the one eye.

THE VOLUNTEER BUREAU, sponsored by the Junior League of San Francisco, Inc., has been working for the past three weeks on recruitment of volunteers for this project. The Marin Delta Gamma sorority alumnae will provide more than half the volunteers. Mrs. H. N. Williams, president of the alumnae, reports that blindness is the national concern of this sorority.

SCREENING WILL BE done this fall in the nursery schools and child care centers of Marin County.

Financial support for this project of the Society for the Prevention of Blindness comes from the San Francisco foundation. The project is supervised by a medical advisory committee headed by Dr. Michael J. Hogan of Mill Valley, chairman of the Department of Ophthalmology at the University of California. Dr. Earle H. McBain is the Marin County representative. Screening of children has been taking place in all Bay Area counties.

A STUDY BY a special Marin Health Department committee under the chairmanship of Dr. E. Muriel Bennett found that a substantial number of Marin children are reaching the age of school entrance with undetected amblyopia. This impairment of vision can be successfully treated by an eye specialist if it is detected early, preferably before the age of four years, she said.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Proposition A Means Housing For Elderly

County Measure A (up to 200 units of low-rent housing for the elderly) should get enthusiastic backing of voters on Nov. 3.

Marin's senior citizens who have little or no assets or incomes will benefit from the measure. And no county or state tax money will be spent for the project.

Your federal taxes pay for this housing, whether it is built in Marin County or elsewhere in the nation. Passage of Measure A will simply locate up to 200 dwellings in Marin County rather than in some other county.

Technically, it is not true to say that the housing units will not cost county taxpayers anything. However, for all practical purposes, the county has everything to gain and nothing to lose. Because, if the units for the elderly are not built here, then they will be built elsewhere in the nation through federal taxes that all American taxpayers contribute.

More than half (4,000) of the elderly households in Marin have incomes under $3,500. Of these, 3,000 have incomes under $2,000. The 200 new dwellings will be for those who need low-cost housing most deperately.

Exact locations of the housing units have not been determined yet, because not one cent can be spent in planning until Measure A is approved. The aim is to build the smallest economically feasible clusters of housing (not one big project) to blend with community patterns.

Rents will be charged according to the ability of an elderly household to pay, with a minimum of $35 per month and the average at about $45.

A citizens committee for HOME (Housing of Marin's Elderly), headed by Roger P. Garety, is spreading the word about the project, with the help of Richard Phenix, coordinator of Community Services Project.

Support for the measure is widespread. Individuals and organizations, including the Marin County Taxpayers Assn., are backing the project as an asset to the community.

We join them in urging a "yes" vote on County Measure A. Approval of the housing plan will be a boon to deserving senior citizens, with no added "bite" on the taxpayers' pocketbooks.

Maude Symington Lives On

With the passing of Maude Fay Symington, Marin County lost more than a great musician and the founder of the Marin Music Chest.

For she not only loved the arts and cultures, in which she was so accomplished, but she also loved people, the common man.

Friends in Marin recall that Mrs. Symington's greatest dream was, as she put it, "to bring the greatest music in the world to the greatest number of people for the lowest possible price."

The prima donna of grand opera, who had mingled with the crowned heads of Europe and the elite of the American musical world, realized her dream of bringing the world's best music to people of Marin.

Marin is now one of the strongholds of music, the arts and cultures. As long as they flourish here, the memory of Maude Fay Symington of the High Hat in Kentfield will remain with us.

Murphy Outshone Salinger In Great Debate, Writer Declares

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Republicans throughout California were both surprised and pleased with the television debate between their candidate for United States Senator, George Murphy, and his Democratic opponent, U. S. Sen. Pierre Salinger, late of Virginia, but representing California.

THOSE WHO THOUGHT Salinger, whose appointment to the Senate so far is unearned, would "cut Murphy in little pieces" were sorely disappointed, as it turned out to be almost an even debate.

The Republican candidate not only demonstrated his ability to debate, but also came up with forceful knowledge of affairs plaguing the United States at the present time, and the ineptness of the current administration in dealing with these problems.

The debate was the first hour-long show in the history of the state where two candidates for the U. S. Senate stood on their two feet and slugged it out with words in a manner that reflected to the credit of both.

SALINGER, OF COURSE, was expected to have the advantage, because of his former affiliation with the White House and because of his present position, to which he was appointed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown as an added incentive to voters of California to elect him to the office come Nov. 3.

But Salinger failed to come up with the answers and accomplished little more than reiterating to the people of the state his connection with the late President John F. Kennedy as press secretary, and to stress this, as he has done throughout his primary and general election campaigns.

ON THE OTHER HAND, his underdog opponent, Murphy, who the Democratic entrenched and powerful forces seek to defeat with every curious little trick of the political trade, came out with a clear recitation of the issues, let the people know exactly where he stands, and gave a real indication of the kind of senator he will be if elected to the upper house in Washington.

He came out against managed news, and he claimed the news is being managed in Washington. Salinger had no answer to this one, due perhaps to the fact that he spent several years managing the news out of Washington.

Murphy called attention to the lack of jobs, both in California and the nation. Salinger made no explanation of what the administration intends to do, if anything, about jobs for people, and maintenance of the economy.

THE REPUBLICAN candidate declared he doesn't know whether the Russian missiles have been withdrawn from Cuba, or whether they still are there, posing a threat to the United States. Salinger did not have comment on this one.

Neither did Salinger answer Murphy's statement that the bracero problem in California has been adjudicated to the point that dozens of agricultural crops in this state are in danger of disappearing for the simple reason the farmer can no longer get Mexican labor to harvest them. Salinger was silent on this subject, which is close to the hearts of specialty crop growers all over the state, especially as the growers cannot obtain domestic labor to harvest the crops.

ALL IN ALL, there may be some good surprises in store for the GOP as a result of the debate, as Murphy showed up not only as a live-wire candidate, but also as an individual who is well acquainted with the issues at stake and, as well, knows what to do about them. It would be interesting if the carpetbag has to go back to Virginia.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Educate Public On Communists

Editor, Independent-Journal:

After reading tonight's editorial (Oct. 7)—another "expose" on the John Birch Society, I would like to venture my opinion that this is just so much re-hash of what has already been said and stated and repeated over and over again. I fail to see that this is any longer such a notable public service as by now the public must have "John Birchitis of the Brain."

I would like to suggest that as much be done to educate the public on the Communist Party, U. S. A., and its publication, as has been done to educate them on the Birchers. Then congratulations would really be in order for a public service well done.

'No Dictatorship' In Birch Society

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Every member of the John Birch Society is working for it because he wants to. To criticize the Society because it requires that members obey the rules laid down by the owner of the organization is silly. Businesses are run the same way. . . .

". . . If you were required to make everything else subordinate, and give to the John Birch Society the whole of your lives, we might as well let the Communists take over in the first place. That is exactly the kind of collectivism against which we are fighting." (Robert Welsh, Blue Book, p. 129).

. . . If you really understood the principles behind private property, you would see that Mr. Welsh is no more dictatorial than the owner of a house who tells his carpenters what needs to be done. . . . So long as the workers are voluntary there can be no dictatorship.

Perhaps I am speaking out of turn since I am not a member of the Society; but I hate to see anybody inaccurately accused. . . .

Looking forward to your devoting equal space to the Communist conspiracy with its compulsory methods, cherubic masks, stupefying lullabies, and murderous butchers.

Tell Readers Of Left-Wingers

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Re: The Birchers.

While I do not disagree with your general views concerning the Birchers, I am getting somewhat weary over reading the same old thing being told in pretty much the same old way.

I should like to propose a timely subject for your review at a time when it may be appropriate in light of the issuance of the Warren Report covering all aspects of the brutal assassination of the late President Kennedy.

Specifically, the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, in whose behalf Lee Harvey Oswald had labored, undoubtedly fanned the hatred which drove Oswald to his dreadful deed. And, as your files will reflect, this committee had an active organization in Marin County.

I feel that it would be timely and appropriate (and in keeping with your journalistic responsibility) to do a comprehensive story telling your readers what has become of this dangerous left-wing extremist organization.

How about it?

Clausen Stand Is Questioned

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Don Clausen, congressman from this district, voted reluctantly for the Civil Rights Bill, explaining that he felt the public accommodations section and the fair employment practices section were largely moral issues, and "I do not think we can legislate morals."

How does Mr. Clausen stand on Proposition 14, the repeal of the Rumford Act? Despite the fact that it is a state law, he should let the voters know how he feels on the issue.

(Congressman Clausen's position thus far on all state propositions has been that, despite requests for endorsements from various sides on various of the 17 State propositions, he will limit his campaigning to those matters which relate directly to Congress.—Editor)

Law On Signs Needs Change

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Because of the inaccuracy of Mayor McInnis' answer to a question put to him on the KTIM Sounding Board program of Oct. 1, as chairman of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee, I request that this letter be published in order that the record be set straight. . . . This question asked why there was no plan for landscaping of that section of the new freeway in San Rafael extending on Francisco Boulevard from the San Quentin overpass to the southerly end of the overhead through San Rafael.

The reason, either through ignorance of the facts or other motivation, given by the mayor for this section of the roadway not being included for landscaping is simply not the truth. On this program he said: "The state forbids landscaping. If we can get the state to make a change then we will certainly change our sign ordinance." The state does not forbid landscaping—on the contrary, it in fact is anxious to cooperate with communities desirous of beautifying freeways that pass through them.

The facts are that the City of San Rafael has not seen fit to amend its sign ordinance to meet the requirements set forth by the state in order for a freeway to qualify for landscaping. . . .

I urge every citizen and every organization in this city to demand action from the city council and the mayor, as its leader, to change the sign ordinance. . . .

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A MIDDLE-AGED matron in Scarsdale startled the clerk in a dairy when she ordered 24 quarts of milk. "Oh, I'm not going to drink them," she explained. "The doctor told me to take a milk bath, and I figure it will take 24 quarts to fill the tub." "Pasteurized?" asked the clerk. "No," said the matron. "Just up to my neck."

BEN NOVACK, Mr. Big at Miami Beach's Fontainebleau Hotel, claims he has the most reliable, not to mention the most glamorous lifeguards extant. The other day, for instance, (says he) one of them rescued a beautiful young girl from the surf (Note to printer: get that spelling right!) and did such a thorough job that she slapped his face five times.

A YOUNG DOCTOR applied for a job of ship's surgeon for a round-the-world cruise. "What would you do," he was asked, "if the Captain fainted on the bridge?" "I'd bring him to," answered the applicant. "And if he was still wobbly?" "I'd bring him two more."

Another Taft Is On The Rise —And His Chances Look Good

CLEVELAND — The most prestigious name in Republican politics over the longest period of time in this century is Taft—President and Chief Justice William Howard Taft and Senator and Majority Leader Robert A. Taft.

Today the Taft name is rising anew on the national horizon in the person of Robert Taft Jr.

It is probable that this election will put him in the Senate seat held so many years with such distinction by his father. And at a time when leadership in the Republican Party is in exceedingly short supply.

RIGHT NOW Taft, who is 47, is in the midst of the crucial contest of his career against Democratic Sen. Stephen Young, who dispatched Sen. John Bricker to private life in 1958.

It is crucial for Taft because it represents the essential breakthrough to the national scene, the essential breakthrough from Ohio politics to national politics-with-a-future. If youth has a special appeal today, he is doing it at the right time.

If this smacks of a Taft dynasty, it is an earned dynasty, not an inherited one. Like his father, Robert Jr. did not start in by seeking national office. He served for eight years in the Ohio House of Representatives and proved himself a well qualified, if not great, majority leader. Two years ago he ran for U. S. congressman-at-large against a nonentity, but won by an impressive 630,000 majority.

HIS FRIENDS are confident that "he's ready," ready to put the Taft name back on the political road signs, ready to step down into the arena of national affairs entirely on his own.

In this senatorial campaign he is very much on his own. He is an independent, not a maverick. He endorses Sen. Barry M. Goldwater, he speaks well of Senator Goldwater. But he has his reservations and does not hold them back. He explains to the more ardent Goldwater backers: "Where I can praise him and the national ticket, I do, and when I disagree, I must state that clearly, also."

He does and his disagreements are considerable.

THESE INCLUDE public housing and measures to give federal aid to education — which his father supported before him — medical care for the aged (but not tied to Social Security) and manpower retraining. He totally disagrees with Goldwater on civil rights and considers it doing violence to responsible conservatism to use states' rights as a shield behind which to try to preserve racial discrimination. He refuses to embrace unreservedly either doctrinaire conservatism or doctrinaire liberalism.

"The stampede of American political thought," he says, "toward the poles of 'conservatism,' on the one hand, and 'liberalism' on the other, must be halted. Rigidity at both ends of the spectrum has become the refuge of lazy minds and volatile emotions."

TAFT IS IN many ways like his father, but more informal, more ingratiating in his public appearances.

Taft is running stronger than Goldwater here in Ohio, where most Republican professionals admit the senator has lost some ground. Ohio Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes, having lost some of his earlier enthusiasm for Goldwater, is remaining unusually quiet. Ohio Democratic Sen. Frank Lausche has not added to any of the enthusiasm he never had for Johnson—and is remaining quiet as usual.

If Goldwater carries Ohio it will be due to two causes: the buoyancy of Taft's coattails and the complacency of the Democrats. As one Democratic leader unhappily remarked: "We've become afflicted with overconfidence. We will lose Ohio if we don't get over it—and soon."

Congressman Bares Refugee Shakedown

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The House Immigration Subcommittee headed by Rep. Michael Feighan (D-Ohio) is officially lifting the lid on the sordid details of an astounding international refugee "shakedown" ring.

The subcommittee's previously unpublished closed-door hearings will name Henryk Jakober, a Hungarian with Rumanian citizenship, as the ringleader of this Communist traffic in human lives.

Three U. S. Immigration Service reports, delivered to the State Department's Office of Security and Consular Affairs but never acted upon by the office, pinpoint Jakober as the mysterious millionaire who runs this thriving global "blackmail" scheme.

THE SWORN TESTIMONY before Feighan's committee asserts that Jakober, operating from a swank apartment on Park Lane in London, directs "runners" throughout free Europe, Latin America and the U. S. to handle the 200-million-dollar covert refugee business.

As first disclosed some weeks ago in this column, these "runners," including U. S. citizens, contact relatives of persons in Communist Rumania to arrange a "purchase price" for exit permits from behind the Iron Curtain.

The subcommittee's official transcript discloses the shocking details of cases where the freedom of refugees was bought by relatives who deposited from $3,000 to $35,000 in numbered accounts in Swiss banks.

WHILE BRITISH intelligence reports that he travels at will from London to points behind the Iron Curtain, U. S. Immigration Service records show that he entered the U. S. at least twice in 1962 while en route to other countries.

The big mystery is whom he visited or contacted in New York during a stopover Aug. 26-28, 1962, before continuing on to Peru to "attend to business" there.

LEGISLATORS probing Jakober's operations are amazed by the amount of information he has on the bank holdings of U. S. citizens whose relatives are behind the Iron Curtain. His figures are so accurate that the congressional probers believe he could only have obtained them from someone on the inside — either bank officials or law firms working with the ring, whose members include bank directors.

The international refugee "shakedown" was uncovered when a constituent of Representative Feighan had the courage to bring the details of an Ohio case to his attention.

Feighan, known as a courageous investigator by his House colleagues, immediately took the matter up with U. S. immigration officials in both the U. S. and Europe.

HE WORKED closely with U. S. immigration authorities, who later sent three reports through channels to Abba Schwartz, director of the Office of Security and Consular Affairs, suggesting that the State Department look into this refugee "shakedown" racket.

When questioned by congressional probers about the reports, Schwartz denied under oath that he had ever seen the documents or heard of Jakober.

Our Governor At One City Hall, A Kissing Horse At Another

GOVERNOR BROWN came to town the other day and people stood all over the City Hall lawn.

The little blonde Westberg girls turned some somersaults and a couple of dogs wagged their tails. After many people had greeted the governor, Mayor Michael Wornum arrived, out of breath, said he was sorry to be late and shook the man's hand.

It's a small, great town, Mill Valley. You don't stand on the City Hall lawn every day and you never know what will happen next.

The next thing that happened was that the teen-agers — 60 strong — attended Monday night's council meeting. The council told the young men and women to take good care of the city's clubhouse and they can use it. The youngsters applauded. It was a good sight.

The next thing that happened was when everyone began talking about Glenn Cavalli's request to build a house on a substandard lot, people speaking of Cavalli in the past tense.

Finally Councilman George Wickham asked Frank Wilson, Cavalli's sport-shirted attorney, when Cavalli died. (Dates are important on this substandard lot ordinance.)

"HE ISN'T DEAD," said Wilson. "I don't know where you people got that idea. He's here in the audience." The audience laughed.

Mayor Wornum asked Cavalli to please stand up and he did, fit as a fiddle. And, again, there was applause. It was a rewarding scene.

Then Miss Helen Delmar Clinton, 80, gray-haired and twinkly-eyed, stood up and said she saw no reason for apartments chock-a-blocking Blithedale Canyon. In short, she said, "I just can't stand it." The audience gave her a good hand, too.

Then Don Stevens got up on the dias, notes in hand, and said, as a Roman, "Fellow Mill Valleyans . . . ." He spoke frequently after that and the mayor banged his gavel many times and finally Sgt. Keith Cramer showed Stevens to a more quiet forum. This proves that, though our local government is very democratic, sometimes the voice of the people can be too voic-ey.

THEN CAME an anonymous letter in the mail saying, wisely, that in my story where it said, "On regaining consciousness he found his wallet laying beside him on the floor," it should have read "lying."

Well, I have been told by my city editor that a hen or a play lays an egg and politicians lie but not what wallets do. As an English major I know that when you place something you "lay" it and when you go to bed you "lie" down. I searched the volume library and Strunk and then decided that the next time a wallet is found empty beside a man on the floor I will say simply that.

The coots, who hate rain, have returned from the north to Sausalito, according to Ethelwinn Steese, and so I drove down the other day to see these birds.

I never saw the coots because in front of City Hall in the street, with a cowboy in front and traces behind, stood a horse. The sidewalk was lined with people, mainly children.

THE HORSE, OF COURSE, was Dandy Cody. The man was Justin LittleBit.

"You know, I've got a holster," said a tot wearing a red plastic fire helmet and a yellow rain slicker.

"You know," he continued, "I'm going to ride that horse." Dandy reached down and, understandably, bussed several kids in a row including Richard and then walked up the street to the No Name with LittleBit and a cameraman.

Whereas you could not get me to live in Pueblo, Colo., I say there is nothing like a one-horse Marin town. Eh wot?

ART BUCHWALD

Ah, Come On, Barry, Why Not Let Ike Enjoy His Retirement?

WASHINGTON—A group of independent citizens have started an organization called "Americans for the Protection of President Eisenhower."

The reason they started it was that, although Eisenhower has been doing everything to help Barry Goldwater, the only thing Barry Goldwater has done for Eisenhower is to offer to send him to South Vietnam.

After appearing on a TV show with Goldwater and agreeing with everything he said, Eisenhower showed up at the World's Fair and said there was something wrong with the campaign and he didn't know what it was.

A FEW DAYS later, Neil McElroy released a position paper on nuclear weapons which Eisenhower said he did not think should be discussed. He was immediately congratulated for his stand by President Lyndon B. Johnson, which made Ike thoroughly confused.

Then to top it off, Senator Goldwater announced if he was elected president he would send Eisenhower to Vietnam. This came as a surprise to the former president, as no one had bothered to ask him if he wanted to go to Vietnam. As a matter of fact, it is known that Eisenhower has refused to go to Philadelphia for Senator Goldwater, much less Southeast Asia.

WHEN IKE heard about Senator Goldwater's last offer, he was really bewildered.

The organizers of A. P. P. E. decided somebody had to put a stop to confusing President Eisenhower.

The main objective of A. P. P. E. is to see that the former president does not have to leave the country against his will.

In a proclamation, A.P.P.E. says, "Whereas former President Eisenhower has served his country in war and peace, and whereas he has been the president of the United States for eight years, and whereas he has made a great contribution to the Republican Party, the Americans for the Protection of President Eisenhower see no reason why he should be sent to South Vietnam without his permission.

"WHILE SENATOR Goldwater probably meant no harm, it is felt by A.P.P.E. that there are many younger men whom Senator Goldwater could send, without their permission, first.

"Former Vice President Nixon, Governor Rockefeller, Governor Scranton and Senator Keating all have been tougher on Senator Goldwater than Mr. Eisenhower, and Goldwater should offer to send any one of them in his place.

"A. P. P. E. also urges Senator Goldwater not to send Mr. Eisenhower to the Congo, Cyprus, Hurricane Ethel, without first checking with Mr. Eisenhower or the American Broadcasting Co.

"FURTHERMORE, we believe since Mr. Eisenhower was a former Republican president he has a right to know what is going on in the campaign, and someone from Goldwater headquarters should explain it to him.

"Also, A. P. P. E. believes that as a Republican Mr. Eisenhower should not be put in the position of saying something about nuclear weapons which will immediately bring him congratulations from President Johnson.

"In conclusion, we believe Senator Goldwater should go back to Gettysburg, talk to Mr. Eisenhower one more time, and then start his campaign all over again."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Don't Waste Your Time Complaining About Luck

It's a great comfort to believe that you're unlucky, but it's neither true nor helpful.

Luck averages out, and skill is what makes the difference.

What do you say?

Answer: Pass.

This is the wisest general course to follow when your best suit is bid by an opponent.

West took the ace of spades and led another trump to the 10, thus beginning the best defense. South took the ace of diamonds, ruffed a diamond in dummy, got back to his hand with the ace of hearts, and ruffed his other diamond.

RUFFED OUT

Having ruffed out those two losers, South looked around for new worlds to conquer. He cashed the king of hearts and gave up a heart trick.

It was a bad day for South. West stepped up with the queen of hearts and returned his last trump, removing the last trump from dummy. South still had to lose another heart, so that he lost two hearts, a trump and a club. Down one.

South would have made his contract if the six missing hearts were divided 3-3 or if East rather than West has held four hearts. It was a shame, South hinted, that anybody so smart and so handsome could be so consistently unlucky.

HAND UNBEATABLE

South should have spent more time thinking and less time moaning. With correct play the hand is unbeatable.

South should begin by leading a low club. When West plays low, declarer puts in dummy's jack to make East win the trick. The idea is to give a club trick to the defender who cannot return a trump.

East returns a heart to the ace, and South leads a club to dummy's ace and ruffs a club. He takes the ace of diamonds, ruffs a diamond, and then ruffs dummy's last club.

MAIN JOB

This finishes the main job. South ruffs another diamond in dummy, draws the last trump and cashes the king of hearts. That gives him 10 tricks.

Nothing can go wrong with this plan unless West has both the king and queen of clubs.

Then West can get in with a club to lead a third trump, but dummy's jack of clubs becomes good to make up for the loss of a ruffing trick.

The Husband Said . . .

"Selling my house was no trouble at all. All I did was tell my broker to 'Put it in Multiple Listing.' He handled every single detail . . . He found the buyer, arranged the finance for him and closed the deal. All I did was sign the deed."

The Wife Said . . .

"The thing I like the most was the way they showed my house. They never showed it until they had first called and made an appointment. They only showed it to people who were qualified to purchase it. All lookers were accompanied by a broker who answered all of their questions pertaining to the property."

And best of all, "It cost not a penny more."

• And the PRIME MEDIUM for reaching Marin families is the Independent-Journal, COVERING 2 OUT OF EVERY 3 HOMES in the County.
• The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED.
• In the I-J, your sales message goes where the GREATEST NUMBER of BUYERS are.
• NO WASTE — NO HIGH-PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.
• The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves.

WHERE DO THEY COME FROM?

(we refer to home buyers)

- The largest percentage of home buyers (71.9%)* who buy homes in the Novato Area are ALREADY living in Marin County.
- And the PRIME MEDIUM for reaching Marin families is the Independent-Journal, COVERING 2 OUT OF EVERY 3 HOMES in the county.
- The I-J daily circulation in Marin County is GREATER than that of the San Francisco Chronicle and the Examiner COMBINED.
- In the I-J, your sales message goes where the GREATEST NUMBER of BUYERS are.
- NO WASTE — NO HIGH-PRICED SPACE GOING TO NON-PRODUCTIVE AREAS.
- The Prime Market then, for home sales, is Marin itself . . . and the I-J Classified "gets home" to the people who buy the MOST HOMES in Marin . . . Marin families themselves.
- SOURCE: "A Survey on the Origins of Home Buyers in Marin County," conducted by the Marin County Abstract and Title Company.

REGISTRATION: Coupon bonds will be issued by said Board of Supervisors on behalf of said School District. Such bonds are registrable only as to both principal and interest.

SECURITY: The bonds are general obligations of said School District, and said Board of Supervisors has power and is obligated to levy ad valorem taxes for the payment of said bonds and the interest thereon upon all property within said School District, subject to taxation by said School District (except certain intangible personal property, which is taxable at limited rates), without limitation of rate or amount.

TAX EXEMPT STATUS: In the event that prior to the delivery of the bonds the income received by private holders from bonds of the same type and character shall be declared to be taxable under any Federal Income Tax Laws, either by the terms of such laws or by ruling of a Federal Income Tax authority or official which is followed by the Internal Revenue Service or by the decision of any Federal Court, the successful bidder may at his option prior to the tender of said bonds by the Board of Supervisors, be relieved of his obligation under the contract to purchase the bonds, and in such case, the deposit accompanying his bid will be returned.

LEGAL OPINION: The legal opinions of the following firm, approving the validity of said bonds, will be furnished to the successful bidder without charge: Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington and Sutcliffe of San Francisco, California. A copy of the legal opinion certified by the official in whose office the original is filed will be printed on each bond without charge to the successful bidder.

TERMS OF SALE

HIGHEST BIDDER: The bonds will be awarded to the highest responsible bidder or bidders considering the interest rate or rates specified and the premium offered, if any. The highest bid will be determined by deducting the amount of the premium bid (if any) from the total amount of interest which the District would be required to pay from the date of said bonds to the respective maturity dates thereof at the coupon rate or rates specified in the bid and the award will be made on the basis of the lowest net interest cost to the district. The lowest net interest cost shall be computed on a 360-day year basis. The purchaser must pay accrued interest from the date of the bonds to the date of delivery. The cost of printing the bonds will be borne by the district.

RIGHT OF REJECTION: Said Board of Supervisors reserves the right in its discretion to reject any and all bids and to waive any irregularity or informality in any bid.

PROMPT AWARD: The Board of Supervisors will take action awarding the bonds or rejecting all bids not later than 24 hours after the expiration of the time herein prescribed for receipt of proposals; provided that the award may be made after the expiration of the specified time if the bidder shall not have given the Board of Supervisors notice in writing of the withdrawal of such proposal.

PROMPT DELIVERY: Delivery of said bonds will be made to the successful bidder at the office of the County Treasurer of said County as soon as the bonds can be prepared, which it is estimated will be within 30 days from the day of sale.

RIGHT OF CANCELLATION: The successful bidder shall have the right, at his option, to cancel the contract of purchase if the bonds are not tendered for delivery within 60 days from the date of sale thereof, and in such event, the successful bidder shall be entitled to the return of the deposit accompanying his bid.

FORM OF BID: All bids must be for not less than all of the bonds hereby offered for sale, and for not less than the par value thereof and accrued interest to date of delivery. Such bids, together with bidder's check, must be enclosed in a sealed envelope addressed to the Board of Supervisors of said County, and endorsed "Proposal for School Bonds of Dixie School District of Marin County."

BID CHECK: With each bid must be submitted a certified check or cashier's check for $1,000.00, drawn on a bank or trust company transacting business in the State of California, payable to the order of the County Treasurer, to secure said school district from any loss resulting from the failure of the bidder to comply with the terms of his bid. In addition, bidders are requested (but not required) to supply an estimate of the total net interest cost to the district on the basis of their respective bids, which shall be considered as informative only and not binding on either the bidder or the district. Checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be returned by the County Clerk by mail upon the award of the bonds. No interest will be paid upon deposit made by the successful bidder.

There is no controversy or litigation pending concerning the validity of the above issues, the corporate existence of said district or the title of the officers to their respective offices and the Board of Supervisors will deliver to the successful bidder no-litigation certificates certifying to the foregoing as of and at the time of the delivery of the bonds.

State Lauded For Beauty Efforts

California scenic highways may become as renowned for their beauty as they now are for their efficiency, according to a newsletter of the California Roadside Council. The Council, a statewide citizens' organization with headquarters in San Francisco, is devoted to the promotion of beauty in our highways and their environs.

The council's hopeful prediction is based on present plans for the development of scenic highways within the California State Highway System. Special standards to be applied to designated scenic highways were authorized by the legislature in its 1963 session and now are being formulated in more specific detail.

"Most encouraging," the roadside council states, "is the increased attention being directed to aesthetic principles of highway design, which we understand are to be applied in new construction, especially within the system of scenic highways. Among these principles are the careful fitting of highways to the landscape, curvilinear alignment pleasing to the eye, and preservation of plant growth and other natural features."

View points and roadside rests, now in the program, will provide another welcome feature, the Council points out.

As specified in the Scenic Highways Act, counties traversed by scenic highways are expected to protect their scenic corridors, the adjoining areas which fall within the motorist's natural range of vision. Such protection may be afforded by means of local ordinances regulating commercial and other development which would tend to impair the corridor's scenic quality. Where a scenic highway traverses city territory, the city similarly is expected to take what steps are necessary to ensure maximum attractiveness.

Several counties already have adopted special scenic highway zoning regulations and others are making preliminary studies. The most comprehensive scenic highway zoning, according to the roadside council, has been done by Monterey and Santa Clara counties.

The interest with which California's scenic highway plan is being regarded throughout the nation is mentioned by the council as an indication of growing realization of the importance of beauty as an economic as well as an aesthetic and recreational factor in modern development programs.

Novato Area School Unification Revived

(This is the first of a series of three articles on various aspects of the proposed unification of the Novato Unified and San Jose Elementary School Districts which will come before the voters at the Nov. 3 general election.)

By THERON A. NEWELL

Facing voters in North Marin County at the Nov. 3 general election will be whether to make one unified school district of San Jose Elementary and Novato Unified Districts.

This will be the fourth time this issue has been before the voters in the two districts.

The first two times, in January and October, 1959, it was defeated in the San Jose District and passed in the Novato District. In the third election, it was defeated by a narrow margin of 30 votes in the Novato District and passed in the San Jose District.

In previous elections, the measure had to be approved by a majority in each district. This time, however, because of a change in the law, the votes in both will be lumped together, with only a simple majority needed for passage.

If this law had been in effect in the first attempt, the unification would have passed then. In each of the previous elections, the majority of the combined vote favored unification.

That is not the only difference between this election and the previous ones. At the last election, two trustees of the Novato Unified District openly opposed the unification: Earl Marshall, who has since been defeated for the school board, and William Kirk. They carried on a campaign for annexation of the San Jose District, rather than unification to form a new district.

This time, no trustee of either district is campaigning against unification.

Another question that influenced the last election was that of the superintendents. Phillip W. Schneider was superintendent of the San Jose District. There was hostility to Schenider among some parents, teachers and board members in the Novato district.

William J. J. Smith was superintendent of the Novato District. His contract was about to expire and the Novato board was reluctant to renew it. However, the members of the Novato board campaigned on the platform that Novato had a going district with a good superintendent.

The ballots were no more than counted and the measure defeated in Novato, when the board and Superintendent Smith got into a donnybrook the likes of which Marin County educational circles had not seen for many years.

All that is changed now. Superintendent Schneider resigned and was succeeded by Ralph Giovanniello, who had been assistant superintendent in charge of instruction in the Novato District. James G. Bunker was hired to run the Novato District.

In the last election, all members of both boards, plus one defeated candidate for the Novato board from a previous election, ran for a five-man board for the proposed new district.

Novato voters, although rejecting unification, gave their five-man board the majority of votes. If that election had been successful, their own board would have run the new district.

At this election, the board for the new district has been set up with seven members elected at large. The 10 members of the present two school boards have filed for the new board, assuring San Jose District at least two members on the new board.

Voters will also be asked to "level" the bonds of the two districts in this election. This will be done by a separate ballot. It must carry by two-thirds vote in each of the districts, according to E. L. Blackmore of the county superintendent of schools office.

The San Jose District has a bonded indebtedness of $346,000, according to George Donaldson, assistant county auditor. The Novato Unified District has a bonded indebtedness of $2,793,000, he said.

"In addition, the San Jose District would have a share of the San Rafael High School District bonds in ratio to its share or percentage of assessed valuation of the district," Donaldson said. This figure has not yet been figured, he said.

It is possible for the voters of the two districts to approve the unification and defeat the leveling of the bonds, Blackmore said.

If this happens, the new district board could, if it wished, call for a special election to level the bonds.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Delayed Growth Of Child Can Be Helped By Drugs And Time

VAN DELLEN

A short stature is accepted by most children until adolescence is reached. Some then begin to wonder if they are normal, because there often is an associated sexual infantilism.

Johnny was a 13-year-old whose growth was delayed by at least two years. His length at birth was 19 inches, and his parents were of normal size. He always had been smaller than average and in the past year had grown only one inch. The boy had no hair in the armpits or elsewhere on the body and was becoming embarrassed by his shortness and lack of sexual development.

TESTS WERE done to determine whether low metabolism or a poorly functioning pituitary gland was responsible. X-rays were taken of the long bones, which showed he was two years behind in growth. The absence of 12-year molars was additional evidence of constitutionally delayed growth.

This boy will grow in time—possibly at age 16 or 17. He was told this and given a choice between letting well enough alone or taking glandular therapy to accelerate the process. Endocrine products stimulate the bones to mature fully but if this occurs before full growth is reached, an inch of ultimate stature may be sacrificed.

AFTER JOHNNY took testosterone and thyroid for eight months, he began to grow and mature and now is as tall as his father.

Children whose pituitary gland is not working normally can be helped, thanks to the development of an effective human growth hormone. A gain of several inches in a year may occur. But the hormones from 200 to 250 pituitaries are needed to treat a youngster for 12 months, and the supply of these glands is limited. This hurdle must be eliminated before the remedy becomes practical.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

PRESSURE UPS AND DOWNS

I. S. writes: I went to see a doctor and he took my blood pressure. It was 175. I rested five minutes and it was 145. Which is the true reading?

REPLY

Both are true readings. The blood pressure fluctuates normally and tends to go up during excitement and exercise and down when resting. We might say that your working blood pressure is 175 and resting, 145. The fact that yours went down is encouraging.

ADRENAL SURVEY

M. L. writes: How is adrenal gland insufficiency determined?

REPLY

Symptoms are considered first. They include fatigue, weight loss, pigmentation of the skin, loss of appetite, nausea, irritability, emotional instability, and low blood pressure. The blood is tested for anemia, eosinphilia, low sodium and chloride, and high potassium. The level of steroids in the urine is tested after the administration of ACTH.

CHRISTMAS MALADY

F. F. writes: Can you tell me more about Christmas virus?

REPLY

Christmas disease is an inherited blood disorder in which there is a deficiency of a certain component in the blood. I don't know anything about a medical Christmas virus but the term might refer to the frantic urge to shop that many women "catch" during the holiday season.

SHOOTING PAINS

A. N. writes: What causes momentary pains in arms, legs, and thighs in a woman of 57? They are surface pains, not in the joints.

REPLY

The cause of pain of this type is difficult to determine. It may stem from nervousness or from irritation of sensory nerve fibers in the upper spine or in the brain.

Balkan Red Nations Wooed In New Turkish Campaign

By SAM COHEN

ISTANBUL (WPS) — Turkey has decided to strengthen her relations with neighboring communist Balkan countries — Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia.

In what is regarded here as a first step in that direction, the Turkish Government has told the leaders of these three nations —through diplomatic channels —of its readiness to establish closer cooperation in the fields of trade, tourism and culture.

The Turkish minister of Commerce, Fenni Islimyeli, has just paid an official visit to Bulgaria in connection with the International Trade Fair at Plovdiv. This is the first time that a Turkish Cabinet Minister has accepted an invitation to visit Bulgaria.

An official Turkish delegation is also conducting talks on economic matters and tourism in Bucharest.

In the past few weeks, a number of Turkish university professors, artists and writers have been invited to Rumania and Bulgaria, and their visits are expected to be reciprocated in the near future.

Turkey has accepted in principle a Yugoslav idea for a "Balkan Tourism Pact" and has agreed to send a delegation to Sofia on Oct. 9 for talks on the possibility of coordinating tourist activities between Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Turkey. The project provides for completing a road from Trieste to Baghdad and Damascus, granting visa facilities, launching joint publicity campaigns abroad, etc.

Exploratory talks are also under way for air agreements with Rumania and Yugoslavia.

The Turkish Ministry of Commerce now seems disposed to increase trade with her communist neighbors too. Commercial exchanges last year totaled less than 14 million dollars.

These favorable Turkish responses to overtures made by the Communist Balkan governments mark an important change in Turkish foreign policy. In the past, Turkey has reacted very coldly almost negatively—to the attempts of these countries to "normalize relations."

Apart from ideological differences, there are almost no problems between this country and her three communist neighbors. Yet, except in the field of sports, there has been very little contact between them in the past decade, and the Turks have no real knowledge of the current situation in these countries.

Turkey did try to establish closer relations with Yugoslavia in 1953. Together with Greece, she signed a treaty of friendship and cooperation with Yugoslavia which was transformed, a year later, into a defensive military alliance called the Balkan Pact. But this pact soon became a dead letter, largely because of Marshal Tito's reconciliation with Moscow. Relations with Yugoslavia have since been cool and limited.

The current readiness of the Turkish government to develop closer contacts with Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia is regarded as a sign of the new, more "independent" thinking in Ankara on matters of foreign policy, resulting from the Cyprus situation.

In recent months Greece has improved her relations with the three Communist countries — a move which Turkey has felt was aimed at isolating her.

However, the Turks say that "normalizing relations" with her neighbors is only natural. The semi-official newspaper Ulus wrote editorially that "the world has reached the conclusion that differences of regimes should no longer affect relations between civilized people." The paper recalled that the U.S., Britain and France have recently developed more friendly relations with the Soviet bloc and asked why Turkey should not do so also.

FULTON LEWIS III

URBAN WHITAKER

Lewis, Whitaker To Debate Liberalism, Conservatism

Fulton Lewis III and Prof. Urban Whitaker will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. in a debate on "Liberalism vs. Conservatism" at College of Marin's Olney Hall.

Whitaker, taking the liberal side, is professor of international relations at San Francisco State College. Lewis, son of the radio commentator, is national field director of Young Americans for Freedom.

Lewis has served as research director for the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Whitaker is a sponsor of the National Committee for the Abolition of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

Longtime Official Other Side Of Fence

Orlando Conti, who served on the San Rafael Planning Commission for many a year, will be before the commission tomorrow as an applicant.

He is seeking a variance to permit him to install swimming pool service equipment on a side property line of his home at 337 C Street. The city ordinance calls for a five-foot setback for such installations.

His application is one of several matters on the agenda for the meeting, which begins at 7:30 p.m. in city hall.

Other matters include the request of Harold Bennett of 61 Crestwood Drive for a use permit to allow a 71-foot radio tower in his backyard; the request of Robert Stack, 2 Lockwood Drive, for a use permit for a proposed boarding house for four persons, and architectural approval asked by Richard Stockton for an 11-unit apartment at 1484 Lincoln Avenue.

The final matter on the agenda is a discussion of slope policies for subdivisions, covering grading requirements and lot size.

Race Crisis Forum Set Two Times

Public forums on the "Racial Problem: A Crisis in Human Understanding," will be held at 8 p.m. Wednesday and Oct. 21 in the social hall of the San Geronimo Valley Community Presbyterian Church.

Speakers at Wednesday's meeting will be John Dearman, San Francisco attorney and member of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, who will discuss "How Far Should the Protest Movement Go?" and Robert Wallace, of Forest Knolls, counselor at San Quentin Prison, who will speak on race and crime.

Judge Joseph P. Kennedy of San Francisco Municipal Court, will discuss racial aspects of housing and employment at the Oct. 21 meeting. Scheduled to speak with Judge Kennedy are Dr. Arnold B. Come of San Anselmo, professor of systematic theology at San Francisco Theological Seminary, who will discuss race and conscience, and William Clay of Sausalito, a College of Marin student who participated in the voter registration drive in Mississippi during the summer.

The forums, during which members of the audience will be invited to ask questions, will be sponsored by the governing board of the San Greonimo Valley Community Presbyterian Church. Moderator will be Rev. Charles L. Orr Jr.

Dinner Honors Mrs. Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 1,000 Democrats paid tribute to the late Eleanor Roosevelt last night at a black tie dinner. They heard U.N. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson urge them to carry on with her ideals.

The dinner was sponsored by the Eleanor Roosevelt Memorial Foundation on the 80th anniversary of the former first lady's birth. Stevenson also was to appear at a similar dinner tonight in New York at which Chief Justice Earl Warren will head the speakers.

Stevenson said Mrs. Roosevelt had become the symbol of a social revolution with a display of energy that would have daunted people half her age.

Catholic Council To Hear Layman

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The first layman ever to address a working session of an ecumenical council will take the rostrum in St. Peters Basilica tomorrow, it was announced today.

He is Patrick Keegon of Britain, president of the World Movement of Christian Workers.

Keegan, recently appointed as an official lay auditor at the council, will speak on behalf of other laymen and women attending the closed session in St. Peter's.

TELEVISION REVIEW

'Slattery's People' Is Worth Watching

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — A guy from CBS-TV said on the phone, "if you think highly of 'Slattery's People,' why don't you give it a push now instead of waiting and complaining if it goes off?"

What the CBS gentleman was really saying was that the heroic college graduates at the networks are concerned by the spot ratings thus far on "Slattery's People," a new Monday night series about a state legislator.

At any rate, the CBS pusher had a valid point. And, in fact, the show's producers have sent out telegrams soliciting support. Past experiences show that such devices invariably have little effect if the mass audience doesn't go for a series on its own, and what "Slattery's People" really needs, if the ratings are to be believed, is a change of competition, away from "Ben Casey."

"Slattery's people," has a good deal of potential, and is thus far a worthy entry. The star, Richard Crenna, is tops as the House minority leader in a state legislature. The show airs at 10 p.m. (EDT).

Tonight the guest star is Ed Wynn, who portrays a spry old gent who bicycles 60 miles to the state capital to get Slattery's aid in fighting the threatened closing of an unusual home for the elderly.

So watch. And if you feel like writing letters, write to your mother or father or brother or sister or even your wife, and ask them how things are going, but don't waste your stationery by writing to the network entertainment departments, because they couldn't care less about what you say if the ratings say otherwise. You might write to the sponsors, because they get thrilled and get scared easily, and even if they don't do anything, which they probably won't, you might get a vicarious charge knowing you've caused a flicker of emotion somewhere.

NBC-TV's lineup of sports events this past Saturday was perhaps the closest thing to heaven on earth for fans.

Starting at 1 a.m. (EDT) and for several hours, the network showed the opening ceremonies of the Olympic Games in Japan via the Syncom III satellite. About half a day later came the third game of the world series from New York. And awhile after that, the nation's top-ranked college football team, Texas, was seen in action against Oklahoma in an exciting contest that saw the favorites fall behind at the start before coming on strong and winning.

All these sports events on one network in a single day must have caused inner consternation for hopeful pay-TV organizations. The World Series on video doesn't have the electric presence of Sandy Koufax or the acknowledged best baseball announcer in the business, Vin Scully, but it has been handled reasonably well and is full of thrills.

The Yankees, of course, are newly owned by CBS, but Mickey Mantle did NBC a favor Saturday by hitting a homer in the ninth to end the game and prevent a possible extra-inning contest running into the football broadcast.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: Van Johnson guests with CBS-TV's Ed Sullivan this Sunday . . . Millie Perkins stars on the same network's "The Reporter" Oct. 23 as a girl who perches on a 20th story hotel ledge . . . Shelley Berman appears on ABC-TV's "Bewitched" Oct. 29 . . . Maurice Evans is reported set for a future "bewitched" episode.

The Republicans bought the 10-11 p.m. (EDT) time period on NBC-TV Oct. 23, pre-empting Jack Paar . . . Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, Democratic vice presidential nominee, is scheduled to be interviewed tomorrow on NBC-TV's program . . .Secretary of State Dean Rusk is question on ABC-TV's "Issues and Answers" Sunday.

CBS has made two half-hour time periods available on the American Medical Assn. and the Senior Citizens Council to present their views on the subject of health care for the aged. . . . The AMA airs its position this Sunday at 5 p.m. (EDT) and the Senior Citizens Council puts forth its case Oct. 25 at the same time.

NEWSPAPERS

Guardians of LIBERTY!

First strategy among dictators and tyrants is to cut the life lines which feed truth and information to the people—to silence the newspapers or shape them into government puppets, which print only the accepted propaganda line.

Our founding fathers, witnesses to many examples of ruthless power and despotism, had good reason to prize liberty—to safeguard the freedom of speech and press, the freedom to inform and disseminate the truth, the freedom to object and dissent.

It has become somewhat unfashionable these days to talk about liberty, freedom and the people's basic rights. We find men ready to compromise this heritage of principles for personal profit, even ready to trade liberty itself for momentary gain.

As you pick up your daily newspaper, none of these factors get a second thought. You scan the headlines, select the articles which interest you, see what goods and services are being offered in the ads, enjoy the comics, note the births and deaths, the tensions which beset the world, read of local developments. You do all this without once reflecting that all this is unique—unknown in many vast, densely populated countries around the globe.

Try to picture your own daily world without newspapers—remembering how much was missing when newspapers for a while ceased to publish in New York, Detroit, Minneapolis, Cleveland. You surely will agree that newspapers make a big difference in people's lives!

More than 60 million copies are circulated by 1,800 American newspapers every day. More than 90% of all United States households buy their favorite newspaper regularly.

What a tremendous protection this is against the forces which would destroy freedom if they could! What a comfort in a world where power struggles erupt like active volcanos, often smothering individual liberty. Finally, what a comfort to the individual to know that if all other avenues of redress fail, there remains the newspaper to take up the cause of justice, to defend right, to fight for liberty.

MRS. MARTY HILL
To teach teen charm classes

Wendy Ward Charm School Aide Named

Montgomery Ward's District Wendy Ward director, Sandra Ellexson, announced the appointment today of Mrs. Marty Hill as Charm Consultant for Corte Madera's Wards.

The Wendy Ward program was inaugurated one year ago nationally with Wards, featuring personalized charm counseling for junior and senior high school girls, and has grown to the point where each Ward retail store now has a consultant.

Charm classes, fashion shows, special events featuring celebrities, high school teen boards, and many more teen events have been conducted during the past year at Wards Corte Madera, and the plan is to have all these and more during to coming year.

Included in the new schedule for the first time will be advanced classes for teens wishing to continue their modeling course after completion of the first classes.

Details regarding time, price and scheduling can be obtained by calling the Fashion Department at Wards Corte Madera.

As the new Wendy Ward consultant, Mrs. Hill hopes to pass on much of her professional knowledge in the fashion and beauty fields.

She is a graduate of Whittier College and since that time has taught home economics in junior and senior high schools and also in adult education programs.

She has been a professional fashion and photographic model, and represented the American Wool Council as a wool fashion specialist.

Recently she has free lanced as a fashion coordinator and has also been teaching the Seventeen Beauty Workshop classes for Macy's.

Mrs. Hill resides in Mill Valley with her husband, Elgar Hill, an architect and their two children, Helen and Dan.

India Dailies Still Lagging In Readers

NEW DELHI (AP) — English-language dailies and periodicals continue to command the largest readership in India, 17 years after freedom.

Fifty-four English dailies, with a readership of 1,452,000, have 26 per cent of the circulation of all the 503 dailies in India.

Hindi, which is the state language and is spoken by the majority of the Indian people, came next with 142 dailies but with only 764,000 aggregate circulation.

Annual figures released by the Registrar of Newspapers for India said newspaper readers in 1963 increased by 5.4 per cent over 1962—from 19,258,000 to 20,291,000.

But India still has a long way to go to reach the standards of the West or Japan. India's newspaper reading public is less than 5 per cent of the total population.

The largest daily circulation in India is that of a Bengali newspaper in Calcutta (Ananda Bazar Patrika) with 146,819. Only nine dailies have a circulation of more than 100,000.

Winemakers Hoping For A Good Year

WASHINGTON (UPI) — It turns out that science really is wonderful. It knows how to produce sound wine.

That, if you like wine, is pretty high praise. But can science guarantee a truly great wine? Hah!

Frenchmen are keeping their fingers crossed, but there appears to be some chance that 1964 will be as great a vintage year as 1921.

This is about like saying that 1964 may produce as fine sculpture as the best year of Periclean Greece.

If 1964 does turn out to be another 1921, will the beneficiaries thank science? They will not and should not. If science could assure great wine, it wouldn't be necessary for wine lovers to keep their fingers crossed.

The act of crossing one's fingers implies a deep-seated feeling that something should be done to placate fate. And fate, in a manner of speaking, appears to be more vitally involved than science in the creation of great wine.

At about the time Frenchmen were beginning to experience intimations of vintage greatness for 1964, a U. S. publication, Scientific American, came out with an article on wine by Maynard A. Amerine.

Dr. Amerine is professor of enology at the University of California's Davis Campus. Enology is the science that deals with wine and its making.

Man has been making wine from grapes for thousands of years without knowing much about the whys and wherefores. Thanks to modern science, however, he is now reasonably well acquainted with the processes which make "the blood of the grape" precious as a beverage for men and as "a symbolic offering to the gods."

According to Amerine, "more nonsense has been written about the making, uses, and appreciation of wine than about any other product of man or nature." So maybe it would be a good idea to identify the subject before proceeding further. Says Amerine:

"Wine is a chemical symphony composed of ethyl alcohol, several other alcohols, sugars, other carbohydrates, plyphenols, aldehydes, ketones, enzumes, pigments, at least half a dozen vitamins, 15 to 20 minerals, more than 22 organic acids, and other grape notes that have not yet been identified."

Before you can direct such a symphony you have to be in the right latitudes where the climate is "one that is warm but not too warm, cool but not too cool." Given that, science can do a lot to assure that no normal year will be a failure.

It can select the best wine grapes, the best fermenting agents, the best chemical aides, the best working temperatures, the best environments for the friendly bacteria that do much of the work, the best aging periods in oak cask or bottle.

The process, all in all, "is enormously complicated," and science has gone a long way toward understanding it. It has eliminated much of the guesswork from wine making.

But it has not eliminated the gods and the fates and nature and the wisdom slowly accumulated by man over the centuries when there was no science.

For all the advances of science, Amerine said, "a truly great wine is still more or less a happy accident arising from time to time out of a particularly fortunate blend of the weather, the grape, and the vintner's intuitive art."

Or, as the French say, just the right temperatures in the spring, just the right amount of rain in the early growing season, and just the right amount of lovely sunshine during the summer with no weather catastrophes from August to September.

Amerine, the enologist, had a final word to say about what wines to use with what foods:

"The matching of wines to food (red wine with red meat, white wine with fish) cannot be defended, objectively speaking, as much more than a superstition."

Raccoons Only Take The Best

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Discriminating raccoons are creating problems in the State Fairgrounds agricultural area.

Seeking ears in the sweet corn stage, they passed up 100 acres of not-so-rare corn to feast on unique varieties from Egypt, Ethiopia and elsewhere.

"We wouldn't object too much if the raccoons ate a few ears of our common field corn," manager Dale Friday says, "but we have very limited amounts of some of these special varieties, so even a little damage is serious."

Doctor Is Working To Lessen Dead Babies

ATLANTA (UPI)—Dead babies worry Dr. Malcolm G. Freeman.

Every day at the huge Grady Memorial Charity Hospital he sees pregnant mothers whom fate and circumstances have singled out as likely to produce a dead child, one that will be dead within a month, or one damaged physically or mentally.

Of the more than four million babies born every year in the United States, about 147,249 are dead at birth or die within 28 days. At Grady Hospital, one of the largest charity hospitals in the Southeast, there are 7,000 births annually.

"Every year at Grady we have more than 300 dead babies," Freeman observed sadly. "This is a figure that sickens me."

The 33-year-old Freeman, an instructor in obstetrics and gynecology at Emory University, hopes to do something about this "reproductive waste," aided by a five-year grant of nearly half a million dollars from the U.S. Public Health Service. The project will be conducted at Grady Hospital, where doctors from Emory University operate the fifth largest obstetrical teaching department in the nation.

"What we're trying to do is to build a program of investigation, rather than a single research project," Freeman said. "There's so much involved in solving the problem of pregnancy wastage that we've got to mount a massive attack—like putting a man on the moon.

"A charity hospital such as this always has a high rate of baby deaths. The pregnant women we see here represent all the cultural, social and economic conditions that contribute to baby deaths. So we think that if anybody solves the problem it will be done right here at Grady.

"It won't be solved in nice, middle class places."

During the first year of the project, a program will be devised to study the causes of baby deaths, including an investigation of pregnancies that go bad for reasons that are not immediately clear to the doctors.

As the program develops, a clinic will be set up at Grady not only to study pregnancies that are bad or going bad but to give indigent expectant mothers expert care.

Dr. Freeman also envisions the formation of a special team of nurses who will devote all their time to observing the day-to-day problems of expectant mothers in order to gain an insight into what factors might contribute to bad pregnancies.

"It may be that we will have to redesign obstetrical care to fit the kind of patient we handle," Freeman added. "We have to find out how they live, even what they eat.

"We have had patients who would refuse green beans, mashed potatoes and meat in preference to fatback and collard greens. We've got to take a fresh look at these people and then redesign obstetrical care for them.

"This is not to imply that we're doing a bad job now, but we can do better," Freeman said.

Cutting down the number of baby mortalities involves more than giving better obstetrical care, according to Freeman. "It's how these expectant mothers live that counts, and how they live is part of what kills the babies."

One Of Oldest Towns In U. S. Is Sick City By Own Judgement

HAMPTON, Va. (UPI) — Long before the Jamestown settlers came in 1607 the Indians had a fishing village here called Kecoughtan.

Three years after the English settled Jamestown, others established Hampton. This was a decade before the Pilgrims arrived.

Jamestown disappeared but Hampton is still here and is the new world's oldest continuous English-speaking town.

Today Hampton has 100,000 residents and it was the great National Aeronautics and Space Administration installation at Langley Air Force Base. Thousands of its residents work at the nearby Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co., the world's largest shipyard.

Hampton lies at the very mouth of one of the world's greatest harbors, Hampton Roads. It is part of the metropolitan complex where more than 803,000 persons are clustered around the great harbor.

Yet, by its own judgment, Hampton is a sick city. Some of its symptoms are:

1. Streets inadequate for access to the business district.
2. Not enough parking.
3. No real shopping center but rather indistinct and segmented shopping areas.
4. Unexploited but cluttered waterfront.
5. Dull and non-distinctive architecture.
6. Extensive deterioration of buildings and widespread obsolescence.

These and other ailments were described by a group of economic consultants and planners.

Hampton doesn't even have the advantage of its history in antique buildings. The town was burned by the British in 1812 and by its own residents in the face of Northern armies during the Civil War, so there is little historic value to be saved or restored.

Hampton is setting out to do something about these problems.

The city re-development and housing authority has approved a 8.3 million dollar downtown renewal plan for the city. The city council was expected to add its approval, and application would be made for federal recognition of a city redevelopment program and grant of funds.

The firm of Washington planners, Doxiadis Associates, made the blueprint. Some of the Doxiadis solutions are familiar: federally financed urban renewal, destruction of blighted property and downtown pedestrian malls.

Others, however, are more original. The downtown would be re-moulded into an oval of concentrated shopping and ringing streets. Downtown would be gas-lit with granite block streets, brick sidewalks and harmonious building facades. Sidewalks would be decorated with shrubs and outdoor furniture.

The waterfront would be transformed into a park-like tourist attraction. There would be 4 million dollars worth of new shopping businesses built over six years.

In all of this renovation, the plan calls more for the scalpel than the axe. New streets would be carefully designed from present ones. Only buildings that can't be saved would be destroyed; the rest renovated. Automobiles wouldn't be banned from the malls but they would be "pedestrian oriented."

The plan is designed to preserve what it can of Hampton's past while giving the city a future, too.

Doctor's Dream

LOUISVILLE (AP) — Dr. Kenneth P. Crawford must have reflected the yearning of many physicians when he picked a name for his woodland cabin. It's called NOFONE.

Pocket Radio Aids In Rescue Of Navy Airmen

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — The chances of a quick rescue for downed airmen, even if they are injured or unconscious, is increased considerably by a new vest pocket, two-way radio, according to Sylvania Electric Products Inc.

The company is delivering the new radio to the U. S. Navy.

The unit provides two-way communication between downed airmen and searching ships or aircraft and it automatically emits a signal on a distress frequency as soon as a flier's parachute opens. The set's battery furnishes enough power to operate the signal 24 hours.

It is said to be the first operational ultra-high-frequency radio built using thin film circut wafers.

Australian Souvenirs?

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Australia is importing boomerangs from Japan and postcards of Australian cities from West Germany—all for sale here as souvenirs.

Sen. Sir Walter Cooper asked Customs Minister Kenneth Anderson in the Senate if anything could be done about this.

Anderson said no, providing the country of origin was clearly marked and normal customs duty was paid.

Just about every visitor to Australia buys at least one boomerang, the ancient throwing weapon of the native aborigines.

Chicago Police Have Facsimile

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Police Department has installed a "Facsimile Transmission" system between district stations and central headquarters to identify persons in custody.

Supt. O. W. Wilson said the system will reduce prisoner processing time by about six hours.

Previously when a man was taken into custody his fingerprints were taken and then sent to police headquarters by police mail for a check. Sometimes the man remained in the lockup for as long as six hours.

Superintendent Wilson said the new system is the first known application of utilizing electrical transmission of fingerprints in the United States.

New College Is Called A Colony

SANTA FE, N.M. (UPI) — St. John's College in Santa Fe is as unique in education circles as its new location.

That's because the Santa Fe college will be officially referred to as a "colony" by the school's officials. As such, it will operate completely free from its mother facility, the 185-year-old St. John's College at Annapolis, Md.

But as a so-called colony, the new college will retain the curriculum and the administractive control from its mother school.

The curriculum at St. John's will definitely be unique. There will be no departments, no divisions, and not even a business administration course. Students won't have a major or minor course of study either.

Besides all that, no vocational or teacher training will be taught, and no pre-med, pre-law or required athletics will be offered students.

What the school will have is an intense four-year course in great books plus a tough science requirement for graduation.

The great books, chosen over a period of nearly 40 years, will range from Homer through Tolstoi. Philosophy books will cover Plato to Jung. Mathematics will include Euclid up to Labachevski, and sciences will be studied from Hippocrates through Einstein.

In short, the new college, with a basic curriculum of literature, philosophy, history, mathematics and natural sciences, will offer strict liberal arts for its students. The school's aim, officials say, is to prepare its students with the tools for future learning. What the student does with this vast storehouse of knowledge after graduation is strictly up to the student.

Classes at St. John's will be a system of gatherings of 10 to 15 students with a tutor around a table. In the evenings, seminars will be held containing about 20 students. The tutorials are for taking in knowledge, while the seminars will be the outlet for the student to display what he has learned through discussion.

Tutorials will be held in languages, mathematics, music and other liberal arts subjects. The first tutors will come this year on loan from Annapolis. Eventually, however, the western colony is expected to foster its own educators.

Maximum goal for the college will be 300 students in 10 years, officials say. More students than that would not allow the college to continue its program of intensive study requirements. This year's enrollment — the Santa Fe college's first — will bring 80 students from 20 states and old Mexico. They will make up the school's first graduating class in four years.

The site for the college is unique also. Santa Fe, with its 250-year-old history, is mainly a state capitol city and a tourist attraction in the Southwest. But Santa Fe is only 30 miles from the Los Alamos facility of the Atomic Energy Commission — birthplace of the first atomic bomb.

Physicists, mathematicians and biologists from Los Alamos are expected to supply the school with lecturing material during school months. Students also are expected from parents working at Los Alamos.

The cultural background found in Santa Fe with its art colony and archeology centers was another factor in the school's location, officials said.

The Santa Ft St. John's will be the only non-church supported, non-tax supported college in the Southwest. Total cost for this year's opening, including new buildings and academic budget for the coming year, is $5 million.

On 260 acres donated locally, St. John's college in Santa Fe, with its traditional environment, may be a new step toward private school expansion in the country. Dr. Richard D. Weigle, president for both the old and new St. John's, complains, however. He said he had three offices because of the two colleges he supervises. "One is in Annapolis, one in Santa Fe, and a third on a TWA plane."

But the board of the new college is liberally sprinkled with westerners. New Mexico's governor Jack M. Campbell is one member. Newspaper publisher and former ambsasador to Switzerland Robert McKinney of Santa Fe is another. Greer Garson, former movie star who owns a nearby ranch at Pecos, N.M. is a board member, and so is Col. E. E. Fogelson, Texas oilman, and Santa Fe architect John Gaw Meem.

New buildings erected in the past year include nine small dormitories, a classroom building, a laboratory and a student center. Future plans call for a library, additional dorms, an administration building, an athletic center, swimming pool, an infirmary and an auditorium.

Teens Adopt Oldsters

PARMA, Ohio (AP) — The 72 teen-agers who are members of Senior Y-Teens from Parma High School have adopted 53 older persons in a local nursing home. In addition to group programs, they seek to provide recreation and meet other needs of the oldsters individually.

Collection Of Ham Radio Memorabilia Draws Crowds

HOLCOMB, N.Y. (UPI) —What is perhaps the largest and cumulatively-oldest collection of ham radio memorabilia in the country is without a permanent home here. Twenty-thousand irreplaceable items from wireless-radio's antiquity now reside on two floors of an old carriage barn in this Finger Lakes farm town.

Not that these humble quarters cramp the founding fathers of the collection, the Antique Wireless Association, composed of some 300 amateur radio historians throughout the world.

Ever since W21CE, as he is known to fellow hams, cried uncle ten years ago when swamped with requests for speaking engagements and demonstrations of his own wireless artifacts, the AWA has been a flourishing reality. So much so that the association has shunned all publicity to date. And well they might, for the magnetism of AWA's historical lore draws as many as 1,000 visitors a year from all continents.

Visitors come to see and to do. They not only view what is possibly the oldest radio tube in North America, they can hear the country's oldest licensed wireless station (W2AN) in operation. Visitors have actually talked to amateur radio operators as far away as Boston using this circa 1922 equipment.

How the few pieces of private antique wireless equipment grew to a 20,000 item collection would shame a big-time gangster. Members first made returns to their respective enginering school campuses for legal "tube-and-trinket" raids on items of historical interest. Visitors also came bearing gifts of dusty wireless hardware in car trunks. Each relic has been tagged appropriately with the donor's name and amateur call letters.

The museum's most prized possession, the circa 1905 Marconi "Fleming-valve" tube, came by way of an accidental trade.

One of the AWA's historical color slide shows depicts the life and technical times of Gulielmo Marchese Marconi. An association member journeying through England recently on business stopped by the Marconi Company with a duplicate set of the slides. So taken was the Marconi management with the slide show they kept it and asked what they could do in return. The bold AWA man asked for and received the prize Marconi tube.

For most non-profit museum groups, acquisition is only half the battle. Shipping costs for heavy items kill many a project.

But AWA's leader also happans to be president of a trucking firm. On his orders, bulky wireless gear is picked up at locations throughout the country and highballed to Holcomb headquarters. Where other museums might have had to turn down an offer of a 1,000-pound "Marconi quench-gap kilowatt transmitter" from a U.S. Coast Guard station in Virginia, the AWA was able to accept.

Visitors to the wireless museum are often as distinguished as the artifacts they view. Curators from scientific museums across the nation have paid their respects to the "amateur" collection, and 14 top FCC officials recently visited the museum.

Bites Arm Of The Law

MANILA (AP)—The long arm of the law reached out — and got bitten.

Police Sgt. Julio Lopez of suburban Caloocan hauled a man and a woman off to headquarters because they were quarreling in the street.

The couple kept up their quarrel during the ride. Lopez tried to pacify them. The woman bit him in the arm.

When they reached headquarters, Lopez charged her with assault.

Old Stuff On Cars

BOSTON (UPI)—An Automobile Legal Assn. researcher discovered that disc brakes, now becoming standard equipment on some American passenger cars, appeared on a British passenger car as early as 1902.

This Computer Writes Stories

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (UPI)—A "desk-top" computer system developed here has gone to work spawning fish stories for the U.S. Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

The computer uses known facts and statistics on the reproduction ability, weight increase, life span and similar data on fish species to project information about fish population for the Bureau, according to scientists of Electronic Associates, Inc.

Thus the Bureau can estimate, by also noting actual commercial fish catches, whether populations of given species are increasing or decreasing.

Plaque Given In Braille

NEW ALBANY, Ind. (AP) — The Bruce Fox Co. recently turned out another innovation for the blind: a plaque in Braille.

It was designed to commemorate the gift of a 145-volume encyclopedia set by the Cliffside, N.J., Lions Club to a blind school at Hackensack.

The rectangle measures 23 inches and the Braille symbols are in embossed aluminum.

Thief Sweats It Out Over Peppers

DALLAS (UPI) — Hot peppers had a 24-year-old petty thief sweating out a brief stay in jail. A guard in a supermarket caught the man with a dime's worth of the peppers in his pocket as he walked out of the store.

The crime cost him a $15 fine as well.

It All Comes Out In Wash

LYONS, Kan. (AP)—Cora Cross added soap to her day's wash, flipped a switch on her washing machine and stood back to watch the suds rise in the machine's window.

Two eyes peered back at her helplessly. Around and around the eyes went as she reached frantically to turn off the machine.

She opened the door and out hopped her three-month-old kitten, Casper, none the worse for the wash.
